No Sales Tax To Be Sought, Governor Says

Ready to Propose 30 Revisions in State Revenue Laws

MADISON (AP)—Gov. Gaylord Nelson indicated today he will not recommend enactment of a state sales tax when he addresses the Legislature Wednesday on Wisconsin's revenue needs.

He told newsmen his recommendation for raising the additional $68 million needed to balance his $503 million state budget would be contained in 30 proposals for revising present revenue laws.

A state sales tax proposal would require the introduction of new legislation, and could not be enacted by revising any current tax laws.

Revenues Affected

The governor said the 30 proposals could not all be properly described as tax raising bills. "But they all affect the revenue situation in one way or another," he said.

"All are revision bills," he said, "... and a number would result in tax reductions."

Nelson would not say where tax cuts are planned, but he is known to favor major reductions in tax levies on merchants' and manufacturers' inventories and farm livestock. Such taxes now bring in about $55 million a year.

Local Tax Cuts

Reductions in local taxes also would result if the state assumed full administration of the public assistance program.

Other reductions for localities are included in a proposal to revamp the state's method of distributing aids and sharing income, utility and other taxes.

The governor's 19-member Citizens' Committee on Tax Revision recommended the described changes, as well as new taxes on banks, tobacco, and beer.

Its prime recommendation for meeting Wisconsin's future money needs, however, was enactment of a 2 per cent tax on sales and a boost in the current income tax levies.

Nelson Asks Speed On State Projects

Governor Wants Action on Construction to Offer Jobs

MADISON (AP)—Gov. Gaylord Nelson said today he will ask the Legislature to approve a three-month advance in the starting date of state construction projects totaling $6.8 million. He called the proposal a "further attempt to do everything within the state's power to help counteract the current recession."

Nelson said he would request introduction of the measure Tuesday, "along with emergency consideration of the proposal I have already announced for a $200,000 deficiency appropriation for loans to Wisconsin college and university students."

4 Big Projects

The proposed acceleration in state building involves four major projects. They call for:

Construction of a hospital - infirmary at Winnebago State Hospital in Oshkosh, $3.1 million.

Completion of the Kettle Moraine School for Boys near Plymouth, $2.7 million.

Construction of a $500,000 vocational rehabilitation center and elementary school at the Delavan School for the Deaf.

Remodeling of Downer seminary facilities recently acquired for the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. Cost of this project is estimated at $300,000.

Top Priority

Nelson said the four projects have top priority in 1961-63. "If emergency legislation is passed," he said, "these projects can be advertised for bids by the first of April." Otherwise, they will be held up until after July 1 when the building program for the next biennium begins, he said.

Nelson said his proposal is to authorize the projects now and credit the amount of the contracts against the first construction funds available in the 1961-63 biennium.

Nelson said he had requested final plans for the four projects be turned to Page 7 Col. 2

MacArthur, Romulo To Receive Awards

NEW YORK (AP)—The first annual "Soldier for Freedom" awards of the Morris Morgenstern Foundation will be presented to Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Carlos P. Romulo, Philippines ambassador to the United Nations.

The awards, announced yesterday, will be presented by Morgenstern, New York philanthropist and investment banker, in MacArthur's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel suite preceding an awards luncheon Feb. 20.

The toastmaster at the luncheon will be William B. Dickinson, managing editor of the Philadelphia Bulletin, who participated as a war correspondent in the landing at Leyte in the Pacific in October 1944.

Feb. 20 was selected as the date for the luncheon to commemorate the 16th anniversary of the liberation of Manila and Corregidor in the Philippines, and also to celebrate Washington's birthday which is Feb. 22.

Massacred by Villagers, Government Reports; New Congo Civil War Feared

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—African villagers killed Patrice Lumumba yesterday, the Katanga government announced today. The announcement brought a new threat of civil war for all the Congo.

Godefroid Munongo, interior minister of Katanga province which has seceded from the rest of the Congo, said the villagers "massacred" Lumumba and two lieutenants just two days after the Katanga government announced their escape from detention.

Lumumba, firebrand of Congo independence and first premier of the new country, was 35.

"We will not disclose the name of the village nor the tribe to which the villagers belong because we do not want them to suffer any reprisals in the future," Munongo said.

The villagers have received a reward of $3,000.

But he asserted the place of death was not far from the spot where their escape car had been found. This spot previously was described as 45 miles from the farmhouse the three men fled Friday. This, in turn, was 220 miles west of Elisabethville.

Outbreak Expected

The death of Lumumba is bound to have widespread repercussions in the Congo, where tribal rivalries are fierce.

He became premier when the Congo attained independence from Belgium last June 30. Soon Soviet technicians and equipment were flowing into the Congo, along with a U.N. peace force of 20,000 men which Lumumba at first welcomed, then repudiated.

In September, President Joseph Kasavubu, after weeks of uncertainty, threw Lumumba out of office.

Kennedy, Nixon to Be Given Awards by Radio, TV Industry

NEW YORK (AP)—President Kennedy and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon will receive the 1961 gold medal award "for outstanding achievement in broadcasting," the radio and television executives society announced Sunday.

Society President Richard S. Salant, head of CBS news, said: "Clearly the most significant contribution of broadcasting to the best interests of this country and her citizens in 1960 was the series of radio and television programs devoted to the presidential campaign, particularly the face-to-face appearances of President Kennedy and Mr. Nixon."

Presentation of the awards was scheduled for a dinner on March 9.

Student Nurse From Neenah Dies in Crash

Stevens Point Man Killed in Accident at Bridge Near Tustin

The death of a rural Stevens Point man and a practical nurse student from Neenah raised the state highway toll to 85 compared with 76 on this date a year ago.

Ben P. Zaleski, 44, route 3, Stevens Point, was killed when the car in which he was a passenger crashed head-on into the abutment of the Pony Creek bridge, three-quarters mile west of Tustin, on Waushara County Highway H about 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Jacqueline Meyer, 26, 415 Fourth St., Neenah, a student at the Neenah-Menasha Vocational and Adult School of Practical Nursing at Theda Clark Hospital, was killed when the car in which she was riding early Sunday morning went out of control on State 22 about eight miles south of Shawano and crashed into a clump of trees.

The driver, Clarence Marohl, 23, Shawano, also was killed.

Broken Neck

Waushara County Deputy Coroner Dr. L. S. Shemanski, Wautoma, said Zaleski died of a broken neck. The driver, James J. Belke, 19, Stevens Point, suffered head lacerations and bruises and was hospitalized at Waukegan Memorial Hospital.

The County Traffic Patrol said Belke apparently lost control on a curve. The car traveled 75 feet on the shoulder before hitting the bridge and falling onto the creek bed.

Belke started back down the road on foot for help. He failed to arouse anyone at the first turn to Page 7 Col. 7

Pennsylvania Bank Caves in as Result Of Gas Explosion

SAYRE, Pa., (AP)—An explosion caved in the two-story First National Bank before dawn today and damaged several nearby stores in the heart of this northern Pennsylvania community.

Two janitors were burned seriously.

Police said they were investigating reports that gas had filled the building and the explosion was touched off when one of the janitors started to light a cigarette.

Only the walls of the bank were left standing, although its vault remained intact.

An adjoining Sears, Roebuck catalogue store also was heavily damaged as were the fronts of several buildings across from the bank. All are brick buildings.

Fire followed the explosion. It milled means test," Kennedy wrote Johnson and Rayburn.

Police roped off the area. They said the walls of the bank appeared ready to fall.

Castro Forces Fight Rebels

Havana Officials Confirm Reports of Mountain Fighting

HAVANA (AP)—Government officials have confirmed reports of a fierce battle between government militiamen and anti-Castro insurgents in the Escambray mountains of south central Cuba.

The fighting Saturday was reported between the town of Trinidad and Topes de Collantes peak, in Las Villas Province. Military spokesmen in the area confirmed there had been a big battle with some killed but refused to give further details.

Military headquarters in Havana denied any knowledge of the fighting, but a traveler returning from the area said there were heavy casualties on both sides.

News Blackout

Prime Minister Castro's government has maintained a virtual news blackout on the Escambray operation, refusing to confirm reliable reports that some 50,000 to 60,000 militiamen were ringing a rebel theater of operations in the mountains.

Occasional unofficial reports of clashes get through. The latest said a battle took place on a road between Topes and Trinidad, indicating the insurgents may have come down from their mountain positions to fight it out.

Other reports from Escambray have said Castro's cordon around the rebel zone is so tight nothing is getting in or out and that the only rebel hope for supplies is by air.

The latest report said the government is using a tuberculosis hospital atop Topes peak as a field hospital for wounded of both sides.

Denies Need for New Federal Court

MADISON (AP)—Judge Patrick Stone, who has presided over Wisconsin's western district U.S. court for 28 years, says the state does not need a new federal court.

The 72-year-old jurist's remark today was prompted by President Kennedy's call for the creation of 59 new federal judgeships to speed justice in areas with crowded court calendars.

Stone said his court is in a position to schedule any case for trial within 60 days.

"The same thing is true in the eastern district of Wisconsin," he said. "We don't need another court in this state."

Superior-Duluth Bridge Claims Third Victim

SUPERIOR (AP)—The inter-state high bridge project linking Superior and Duluth claimed its third victim today when a 24-year-old iron worker fell 100 feet to his death.

Edward Wescome of Duluth was working on the Superior end of the bridge, a spokesman for the Beasley Construction Co. said, when his spud wrench slipped and he fell to the ground.

Wescome had been working on the project since last fall.

Expected to Reach Area Near Planet by About Mid-May, Experts Assert

MOSCOW (AP)—A 1,418-pound Soviet "space station" hurtled toward a mid-May rendezvous with the planet Venus today after a spectacular piggy-back launching the United States does not expect to achieve for another 18 to 24 months.

The space traveler carrying a banner emblazoned with the Soviet coat of arms should reach the area of Venus when earth's sister planet will be about 26 million miles away, the Soviets said.

The latest Soviet space shot—second in eight days—was aimed at investigating conditions on and around the planet, whose perpetual mantle of clouds has made it a mystery to scientists.

The aim is either to hit Venus or to have the ship pass closely enough to send back detailed studies, Victor Razykin, director of the Moscow Planetarium, told reporters today. He said it was far from certain the ship will hit the mysterious planet.

Carries Radio

The space ship has a radio transmitter believed capable of sending messages across millions of miles of space, but Razykin said it has not been announced whether the vehicle carries equipment to relay photographs back to earth. He declined to speculate on this.

Scientists and officials on both sides of the iron curtain hailed the Venus shot as the greatest space feat since the Soviet Union orbited her first Sputnik three years ago. It adds to the Soviet Union's other claimed accomplishments, which include hitting the

Urgent Need Seen

President Outlines Health Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today sent congress a draft of proposed legislation to carry out his health insurance program.

It calls for a $1.5 billion increase in social security taxes to finance a program for 14,200,000 Americans 65 or older.

"I believe the need for such insurance is urgent," Kennedy said in letters to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, the senate's presiding officer, and House Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex.

The bill was formally introduced in the house by Rep. Cecil R. King, D-Calif., the second-ranking Democrat on the Ways and Means Committee which will consider it.

The measure would carry out the health insurance program that Kennedy outlined in a special message to congress last week.

This particular bill, however, embraces only the health insurance aspects of the broad over-all health program set out in last week's message. Separate bills on other phases of the program are to be submitted later.

Increased Taxes

The health insurance program calls for increasing the present 3 per cent social security tax to 3½ per cent. Also the tax would be applied to the first $5,000 of annual wages instead of the first $4,800 as at present.

The administration estimated that $1.1 billion in benefits would be paid out under the program in 1963, the first full year of operation.

"Enactment of the legislation would not relieve its beneficiaries of their entire responsibility for the cost incurred by them for their medical needs, but it would enable them to meet most of their medical care costs without any further milking means test," Kennedy wrote Johnson and Rayburn.

The reference to a means test was an obvious allusion to the legislation which former Presi-

Hammariskjold Urges Quiz Into Lumumba Death

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold today urged a full and impartial inquiry into the slaying of deposed Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba. The Soviet Union immediately blasted his proposal as hypocritical.

U.S. Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson quickly supported Hammarskjold and appealed to all countries to avoid any action which might inflame the situation.

The news that the controversial Lumumba had been killed in secessionist Katanga province came as the U.N. Security Council met to resume debate on the Congo problem. After hearing several speakers, the debate was adjourned until Wednesday because of the new developments.

Ambassador Omar Loufi called the death of Lumumba "premeditated murder." He said it would have serious consequences both in the Congo and internationally. Britain's Sir Patrick Dean expressed "profound shock."

16 Freight Cars Quit Tracks Near Crandon

CRANDON (AP)—Sixteen cars of a southbound Soo Line freight train piled up in a spectacular derailment a mile south of Crandon today when a rail broke after the locomotive units had safely passed it.

Ten cars loaded with pulp logs sent their cargoes into tangled piles along the right of way. Derailed cars also included two paper carriers and a chemical tanker.

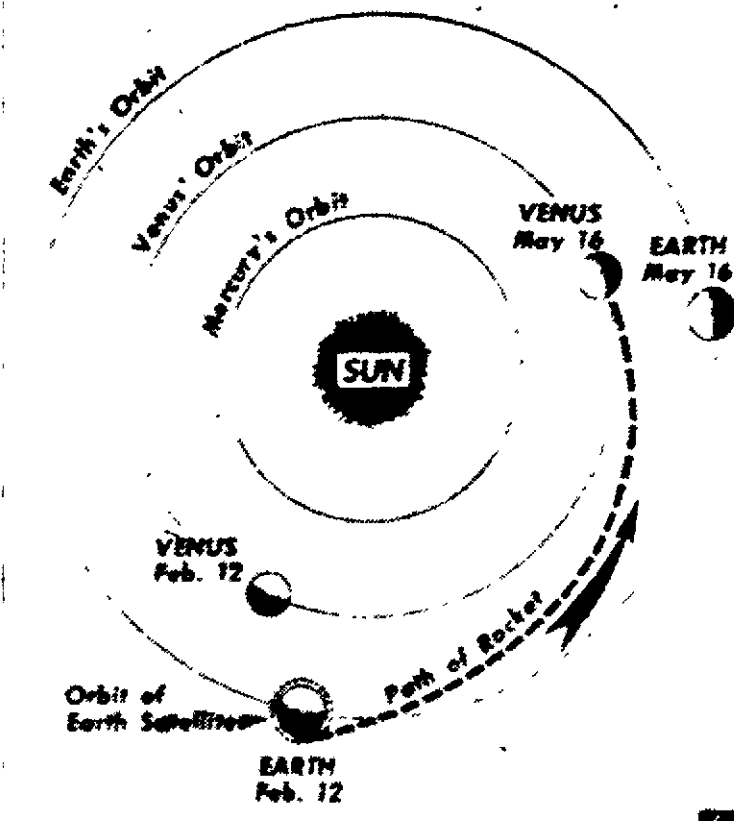

No one was injured.

Plan New Studies On Unemployment

Secretary of Labor Goldberg Winds Up Midwestern Tour, Plans Trips to West, South

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration today charted a new series of town meetings across the land to get firsthand the plight of the unemployed. Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, just back from an initial five-state swing, said he plans to carry President Kennedy's message that "help is coming" into other sections. Goldberg toured depressed areas in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and Pennsylvania over the weekend. He said Kennedy followed the trip with great interest and considered it "very worthwhile."

South, West Visits

The labor secretary said he soon will hit the road again to visit the South and West and such areas as West Virginia, Massachusetts and the Mesabi iron range in Minnesota.

As on his first tour, Goldberg said he would talk with unemployed workers and their families and consult in "town meeting" type sessions with labor, management and local government leaders to get their ideas on how the recession can be licked.

4 Executives Start 30-Day Prison Terms

Fox Point Man Granted Delay in Antitrust Case

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Four more high-salaried electrical firm executives were to start 30-day prison sentences today for fixing prices and rigging bids in America's biggest federal antitrust case. Two of the seven officials ordered jailed a week ago in the smashing of the giant conspiracy already are behind bars. They surrendered unexpectedly Friday — three days ahead of schedule.

The seventh — John Marvin Cook, 54, Fox Point, Wis. — was granted a delay in starting his jail term because of his daughter's engagement party this week. He is marketing vice president of Cutler-Hammer, Inc., Milwaukee.

Enter Today

Slated for prison today in nearby Norristown are:

William S. Gunn, 45, General Electric Co. vice president from Schenectady, N.Y., who bossed 17,000 employees in seven plants of the nation's largest electrical firm.

George E. Burens, 55, GE vice president on special assignment for manufacturing services at Louisville, Ky.

Lewis J. Burger, 48, Fort Wayne, Ind., GE division manager who formerly headed the switchgear division, succeeding Burens in that job.

Edwin R. Jung, 58, vice president of Clark Controller Co., Cleveland. Jung has been with Clark 33 years.

The two Westinghouse Electric Corp. executives already in prison are John H. Chiles Jr., 57, Sharon, Pa., vice president of the transmission division, and Charles I. Mauntel, 60, Drexel Hill, Pa., sales manager of the steam turbine division.

The seven men, who reportedly earn between $25,000 and $135,000 annually, will occupy separate cells in the Montgomery County prison, which is 20 miles north of Philadelphia. It is a 112-year-old structure that can house 205 inmates.

Warden Andrew White said there will be no preferential treatment for the men. They will follow the same daily routines as other prisoners.

Wake-up time is 6:30 a.m. Lights go out at 9 p.m. But prisoners can listen to jail-supplied radios until midnight when silence is mandatory. There is an afternoon exercise period and prisoners can borrow three books weekly from a small library. They can have visitors Wednesday and Saturday.

Episcopal Bishop Calls Agnosticism 'Part of Religion'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "Agnosticism is a true part of religion," the Right Rev. James A. Pike, Episcopal bishop of California, said in a pastoral letter he ordered read throughout his diocese yesterday.

Religious myth is an avenue of faith, he added.

Bishop Pike said his beliefs are well within the limits of doctrinal orthodoxy permitted by "our communion."

Pike said he was speaking out in answer to charges of heresy made against him by Georgia clergymen and others.

"It would be presumptuous for us to assume that millions upon millions . . . who have not heard of Jesus Christ will be (damned), the letter said.

Referring to the "myth of the Garden of Eden," Bishop Pike said it had value in explaining the nature of man but that he did not know a single member of the Anglican communion "who believes this story literally."

The Virgin birth, he said, is a myth which churchmen should be free to accept or reject.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months.

In fact, sufferers were so thorough that results were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetic or strychnine of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

President Returns to Duties After Weekend Of Resting at Retreat Area Not Aroused Over Presence Of Kennedy Family in Virginia

MIDDLEBURG, Va. (AP) — of a foot and a half that descended last Wednesday.

The lane leading away from Glen Ora is a white-walled chasm 10 or 12 feet deep in places.

Only a score or so spectators clustered at the Community Center to watch Kennedy come and go. And only a few more than 100 persons attended Mass, which was said by the Rev. Albert F. Perceira, pastor of St. John's Church at Leesburg, Va.

Very Happy

As Salinger reported it, Kennedy is very happy with his hideaway in a section of the country devoted largely to large estates, horses, the hunt, and easy, gracious living. Salinger said the President found his surroundings congenial, pleasant and relaxing. And there was no outward evidence that the people who live full or part time around Middleburg found too much to perturb them in the arrival of the President and the necessary cortege of staff members, Secret Service agents, communications experts and newsmen.

The Middleburg area, along with Virginia, went Republican in the presidential election last fall. But Edwin Reamer, mayor of the town for five years and a Democrat, told reporters he thought things would work out so that everyone will be content, with Kennedy having his privacy and the character of the town and surrounding country pretty much unchanged.

5 Children Die In Burning Home, Mother Saves One

NEW YORK (AP) — Five children were burned to death early today in a fire which broke out in a Queens home while they slept.

The mother of four of the victims saved her fifth child, a 5-year-old boy, by throwing him off the roof of the two-story frame house into a snowbank. She jumped after him.

The father ran to a neighbor's home to get a fire alarm turned in.

He and his wife then tried to fight their way into their blazing home, but were forced back by the heat and flames and were burned. They were taken to a hospital. The mother was bleeding from many cuts — apparently suffered when she crashed through a window in getting to the roof with the child she saved.

Four of those who died were children of William T. Ryan, an employee of the city department of sanitation, and his wife, Edna. They were Dawn, 3 months; Dorcen, 2 years; Erin, 3; and Kenneth, 4.

The fifth was a sister of Mrs. Ryan, Gertrude Rutloff, 16, who was visiting at the Ryan home.

Tass Describes Reds, Chinese as 'Friends'

Commentary Timed to Mark Anniversary Of Treaty of Alliance and Cooperation

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet radio, said every year produced fresh remarkable results of the treaty.

The Russian and Chinese peoples as "sincere friends, loyal allies and brothers."

The Tass commentary was timed to mark tomorrow's 11th anniversary of the Soviet-Chinese Treaty of Alliance and Cooperation.

It came also in the wake of Western reports that the ideological rift between Moscow and Peking went deeper than anyone, this side of the Iron Curtain had imagined.

Tass Commentator Kharkov stressed the unity of the two nations and made no mention of Western reports of a split between Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Chinese Leader Mao Tze-tung.

Common Features

"The historical destinies of the Soviet and Chinese peoples possess common features which are the basis of their cohesion," Tass asserted.

"Unity of purpose in the struggle for socialism and communism, community of ideology, allegiance to the teaching of Marxism-Leninism and the principles of proletarian internationalism — all this still further cements the Soviet-Chinese alliance and friendship and makes them a force unequalled in mankind's history," said Tass.

The English-language commentary, broadcast by Moscow station was headed by National Commander William R. Burke.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen and Rep. Leslie C. Arends headed a group of Republican leaders at wreath-laying ceremonies at the tomb.

Hundreds made pilgrimages to Lincoln's tomb in Oak Ridge cemetery for wreath-laying ceremonies and speeches. Others paid homage at the frame house in Springfield that was Lincoln's home and at nearby New Salem State Park where Lincoln lived as a young man.

Gov. Otto Kerner joined in two pilgrimages to the tomb, one conducted by the American Legion and another by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He said Lincoln is honored "not so much with monuments and memorials but by qualities which caused his spirit to live on." The Legion delegation

Democrats Worry Over Two States

Political Situation in New York, California Items of Concern

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE

WASHINGTON — The political situation in the country's two most politically powerful states, New York and California, is deeply worrying the Democrats, just returned to national power though they are.

The source of anxiety lies in the presence in both states, in large and righteously numbers, of the good, good, good Democrat. This is a fellow so terribly "liberal" and infallibly right on every question that it hurts—hurts all others, that is.

President Kennedy himself is trying to stay out of what in each state is a prolonged hissing match set off by the good, good, good Democrats against nearly all other Democrats who happen to be in elected office or in positions of party leadership.

It seems clear, however, that he must shortly dip into these rancorous pools with a brisk exercise of his own authority. If he doesn't, the loss of one or both states to the Republican in 1962—and maybe even in 1964, when he seeks a second term—is most plainly probable.

Hardly Competent
For in both the Democrats are showing a bickering ineffectuality. The public gets the impression they are hardly competent to carry on any enterprise beyond clanging at each other and shouting shrill and weird epithets.

Frustration is the word for the national Democratic politicians as they gaze sadly at what ought to be two great state strong points—and are instead both wide open to Republican capture.

California, where Democrats vastly outnumber Republicans, nevertheless won last November to GOP presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon. True, New York was carried by Mr. Kenedy; but the future is dark for the Democrats there, too.

Republican Gov. Nelson Rockefeller seems practically certain of re-election next year. The Democratic mayor of New York City, Robert Wagner, goes for re-election this fall as the alleged head of an alleged Democratic party which is really in broken fragments.

Nixon Challenge
In California, Gov. Edmund (Pat) Brown, also up for re-election next year, is in the same fix. There, according to sound private estimates among Democrats themselves, Brown can hardly hope to survive if Nixon challenges him.

Why all this, in both New York and California? Answer: These two presumably sophisticated states have developed a back-biting campaign by the good, good, good Democrats which must be heard to be believed.

In New York, "reformers" headed by former Sen. Herbert Lehman and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt endlessly denounce the ablest professional their party has, Tammany leader Carmine Desapio. In their eyes, Desapio's crimes are manifold. The outsider has some trouble to determine what they are—except for the capital crime of disagreeing with the "reformers."

Several Parties
If in New York there are now several Democratic parties, in California there are several more. Governor Brown, if not the ablest man ever to breathe the California air, did reclaim the state for the Democrats in 1958. But other Democrats gave him far more trouble than did the Republicans.

They are still giving it to him. To hear what is really wrong with Brown, you need only meet one of the good, good, good California Democrats. These fellows, as in New York, are in the happy position of having no responsibility. So, their situation permits them to operate what they would call a hit-and-run politics—if, that is, it were being practiced by conservatives.

All men having some human feeling should have a bit of sympathy for the poor chaps who have had the misfortune to have some real power and responsibility in both states. President Kennedy himself—though not yet taking sides—is bound to feel some sympathy himself. For there was a time when the good, good, good liberals, especially in New York, did not well love John F. Kennedy himself.

Community Values and Industry

Communities hoping to attract industry should drop the gimmick and ballyhoo approach and stress their over-all worth because that's what industries are seeking.

This view comes from Randall T. Klemme, vice president of the Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha, Neb., and a former consultant to government planning and economic development agencies. His advice appears in The Appraisal Journal, quarterly publication of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers. What he says about community attractions to industry makes sense.

"No matter how attractive the industrial site may be or how inducing the terms, the community of which it is a part will tip the scales for or against its selection," Mr. Klemme says. Today, he goes on, industry is primarily concerned with the civic attitude of a community's citizens and its government. Industry asks whether a community has a development program which is intelligently and realistically conceived, comprehensive and challenging and yet which can be achieved. Then, industries will look at schools, churches, medical facilities and personnel, governmental services and a community's citizens.

"They are personally concerned," he writes, "that the new community provides the best possible social, cultural and civic environment for their families. This problem of community development goes much deeper than the planning and zoning of industrial parks and districts. It is something which all communities need to consider."

Mr. Klemme also emphasizes that a program for revitalization of downtown business districts is an especially vital part of progressive development in communities. Such projects, he cautioned, need the support of citizens, they must not be too burdensome to the community and they must have the support of industry, business and real estate leaders. In addition, Mr. Klemme urges communities to face up to their deficiencies as well as their resources and assets. He says citizens should understand both the advantages and the disadvantages of the community and that leadership on all levels must be mobilized to carry out development plans.

The competition for new industry is such that any less than a community-wide effort to make it attractive to industry provides a formidable hurdle in the first place. Mr. Klemme points out that probably not more than 350 companies are planning relocations or branch installations this year. This is a relatively small number. Attracting those which plan to relocate or to establish branches requires a concerted community and well thought out effort by all residents.

This requirement is distilled into a few words by Mr. Klemme: "Today, in the field of industrial development where the rewards are very rich, the communities which are going to succeed best are those which are going to do a job of planning for their future."

This means sound planning on the governmental, fraternal, welfare, cultural and social fronts. If this is done, the need for the high-pressure ballyhoo and gimmick type of inducement to industry becomes of even more doubtful value.

Small Businesses Given Every Consideration by U. S. Agencies

Editor, Post-Crescent:

So often well meaning, but only partially informed congressmen stand up to criticize our governmental procurement policies, that our conscientious government buying agencies must be developing calloused backs from serving as congressional whipping boys. Our press seems to go along with the congressmen without seeking the other side of the story.

I have never before written a letter to an editor on this or any other subject, but when I read your editorial emphasizing the newest claims that small businessmen are being bypassed in favor of big business, it moved me to send you at least a part of the other side of the story.

I have been a contract administrator for relatively small firms for the past five years. By small firms, I mean, that my employers have not been dominant in their field, although, due to legal technicalities, they are not classed as small business as defined in the Small Business Act. Consequently, I certainly cannot be accused of having animosity toward small business when I say that, it is my observation that our government buying agencies bend over backwards to help qualified small businesses obtain government business before they place their order with a large firm.

However, in spite of their best efforts, the percentage of government money being spent directly with small firms is not increasing, because the nature of government spending has changed. A larger percentage of the defense dollar is being spent on research and development and for highly technical services and specialized weapons that John Doe, in his five-man shop, just cannot supply. Only the large companies have the knowledge or the capacity to develop new missile systems, planes, rockets, ships and hydrogen bombs.

Here are some of the things all our government agencies do to help the small business now.

1. They declare their policy to be placement of a fair proportion of total purchases with small business.
2. They set forth in the Armed Services procurement regulations, which govern all government buying activity, specific rules which require each government department to screen all requirements against the available small business suppliers before soliciting bids, and reserve as much business as possible for exclusive distribution to small firms.

3. Each government buying activity has a small business staff that devotes all its time to helping the small business man.

4. They include in all contracts a clause requiring contractors to place the maximum number of subcontracts with small business concerns. They even check the prime contractor's buying record periodically to see if he is soliciting bids from a reasonable number of small firms.

But, if you add to the amount spent directly with small business, the huge amount of subcontracts placed with small business by large prime contractors, you would probably find that small business is getting a bigger slice of the pie than ever before.

Most of our government contracting officers and their staffs are doing a very fine job of squeezing the taxpayer's dollar, much to the dismay of contractors, who think they can "clean-up" by selling to Uncle Sam. I think someone ought to give them a pat on their sore backs once in a while to counteract the heat of the coals Congress is continually piling on their heads.

Going to 'Public Trough' Has Replaced Work, Integrity

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Three recent incidents prompt this letter. (First, the Telethon on Channel 11.

Second, a charity drive in my church.

Third, an article about "Old Tom" Sampson.

When charity ceases to be voluntary, then I think we ought to pause and consider the situation. January 28th and 29th on

Channel 11 TV we were subjected to high-pressure salesmanship by glib stars; we were alternately flattered and shamed for living in one of the richer areas of the United States "and not contributing more."

No one denies the great need for drives such as the March of Dimes. But, our children have already contributed in school; we have been solicited through the mail. Must we now do more

Starving Kansas Needs Our Help

100 years ago

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Feb. 16, 1861.

The telegraph and private letters bring us news of a terrible destitution in Kansas. A letter from S. C. Pomeroy, the agent for the suffering people in that new State, says that over 40,000 people are on the border of literal starvation and the number is increasing constantly. He said that some have died of absolute want.

How stands this matter in Appleton? How much has been sent to relieve these distressed unfortunates?

We feel like really giving a certain class in our community a severe raking. But we shall leave them to their own consciences—if they have any.

When Cushman came here and gave a value for the cash and old clothes to aid the starved ones, why did not our self-styled philanthropists turn out and prove their sincerity? Because—said many of them—"He is an imposter, he will pocket everything, we prefer to contribute to Kansas through some other channel."

Well, Cushman has gone and these miserable hypocrites have done nothing. Those who generally were the loudest bawlers are now the quietest. Out upon such hypocrisy.

This place should do something as a community for suffering humanity in Kansas. Let us see if anyone will make the move.

Sheriffs Again Plead Lack of Understanding

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — When the Sheriffs Association men turned up in the legislature the other day with their persistent demand for the repeal of the constitutional limit of two successive terms for the county sheriffs, they said the people would have backed previous propositions if they had understood the issue.

The sheriffs are entitled to put as low an estimate on the popular intelligence as they please. But one wonders whether this is an effective way of gathering support for a proposal that is backed almost exclusively by the sheriffs themselves. The bystander will wonder also whether er it is true that the voters didn't apprehend the meaning of the question the 1st time they declined to endorse it on a referendum ballot.

Your reporter doesn't feel strongly about this question. But it seems quite evident that there are people who have objections to it that seem sufficient. It may be that circumstances have changed, as the sheriffs say, and that the reasons that once were good ones are no longer pertinent.

HISTORY

Yet there is a history involved here that obviously relates to the sheriffs' inability in repeated tests in the past to get the right to unlimited tenure that they complain enviously is granted to all other public officers in Wisconsin.

Who doesn't remember when in a typical Wisconsin county the sheriffs' office was regarded as a quick avenue for riches?

The legends in my own county remain fresh in the memory. The sheriff was paid on a fee system. No doubt anyone who was interested could have discovered what the actual fee compensation aggregated in a year. But the fact was that the totals swelled to magnificent sums—in popular legend and gossip—and the sheriff was the envy of all of the small time politicians of the neighborhood.

Today the fee system has virtually been abolished, and that is doubtless a good thing. But the memory of the older ways lingers, and surely has been a factor when the sheriffs perennially and anxiously push for a liberalization of their tenure rights.

Even today, in the typical jurisdiction the sheriff remains a politically powerful fellow, perhaps the most powerful in the courthouse. Some of them have substantial staffs of deputies. Some of them have the habit of naming honorary deputies, who can constitute a considerable local political machine. Maybe that is also involved in the reluctance of some electors to give the sheriff the right to succeed himself without restriction.

LONG AGO

The sheriff is the heir to an ancient office, one going back to earliest times in old England. In the birthing days of the state, he was a powerful public functionary. The constitutional fathers knew exactly what they were doing when they held him to two successive terms. They were small "d" democrats.

Today's sheriff department is a far cry from those 19th century times, no doubt. But this reform, if a reform it is, would appear more persuasive to many persons, as a guess, if it didn't come from the sheriffs themselves, politicians who are somehow not associated with the other reforms occasionally suggested for the improvement of the law enforcement machinery.

There are many critics of governmental arrangements who feel that the sheriff's office as it is now constituted is archaic and inefficient. Repeatedly they have suggested that the sheriff be removed from the election ballot and replaced by a professionally trained appointive officer with tenure based upon technical merit. Who would seriously propose that the city chiefs of police be chosen by popular election, and on a party ballot, at that?

But the sheriffs don't respond to the roll calls when such motions are made. If they can so soberly maintain in a public hearing that the public doesn't understand, the public is entitled to suppose that their own purpose is plainly selfish.

GRIN AND BEAR IT

By Lichty

"There's no chance of a conflict of interests in my appointment, gentlemen! . . . Everything I had has been out of my control since the day I was married! . . ."

Overcrowding at the Reformatory

With the inmate population at the Wisconsin State Reformatory and at the State Prison at Waupun running far above the rated capacities of those institutions, Sanger B. Powers, State Director of Corrections, is looking into the possibility of renting barracks in the stockade at Camp McCoy to relieve this overcrowding. That is obviously a good idea. With more than 100 men sleeping in the corridors at the Reformatory, it is quite obvious that something must be done immediately.

Although this institution is at a new high point with 1,046 inmates, including trustees at the Rhinelander Forestry Camp and the Oneida farm, Supt. M. A. Skaff expects further crowding as a result of the usual rise in population in late winter and spring. A steady climb can be expected from now until May 1, Mr. Skaff says.

Even though the crowding may be relieved by renting barracks at Camp McCoy it must be quite obvious that some permanent solution will be necessary in the near future. It is true that the present crowding can be charged in some degree to the business recession. In times of unemployment more men and boys get into trouble with the law than during normal times. The growing state population also is a contributing factor and must be taken into account in planning future penal needs.

It is true that the state has under construction a new prison building and perhaps by 1963 will have a new industrial school for boys. These buildings will tend to relieve pressure on the Reformatory. But the state is far behind now and experience indicates that the planning and construction of this type of building requires years as witness the efforts to get the boys' school construction underway. At any rate, it is not too early to begin making plans to provide additional Reformatory facilities.

Quite obviously there is not much room for further expansion inside the Reformatory wall and there are strong local objections to any expansion outside of the wall. On the other hand, the Reformatory plant represents a tremendous investment. It is so large that apparently the state has come to the conclusion that it is too expensive to abandon and replace elsewhere. Thus the state is stumbling along toward the inevitable day when it will be impossible to squeeze another inmate into the place and yet there will be no other place to put him.

Inviting Reds to the Congo

The reported plan of Sec. Gen. Dag Hammarskjold to restore order to a chaotic Congo reads like something dreamed up by a hashish smoker. There is little chance that it even will be tried despite the backing of the United States. Even if the present Congolese more or less in charge accepted the plan, it would be an open door to a renewal of Soviet influence.

No one can deny that the Congo is in a state bordering upon anarchy and that drastic measures probably are necessary to prevent either civil war or a splitting of the nation. President Kasavubu has shown no great leadership ability and Strong Man Mobutu loses support every day. Tribes that don't even know the Belgians have gone attack other tribes with spears in battles over patches of jungle.

To attempt to solve all this — and certainly the Secretary General is doubtful about the plan — Mr. Hammarskjold proposes to ask all Congolese to lay down their arms, for political prisoners to be released, and for parliament to meet in a supposed atmosphere of calm and intellect. Mr. Hammarskjold hopes that Lumumba won't get elected to anything but concedes that, if he does, the Russians will be invited back.

Kasavubu and Mobutu may be ineffectual leaders but we doubt that they are willing to give up the trappings of power which they now have. There certainly has been no assurance from the U.N. troops in the Congo that they will be fair and objective in maintaining order, particularly if they include troops from Ghana, Guinea and the United Arab Republic which Mr. Hammarskjold must accept if he wants those votes in the General Assembly. Belgium might stay out of the fracas since its fingers are badly singed; the Soviet Union will be back in force.

The whole situation is somehow alarmingly reminiscent of the days after World War II when the agrarian reformers in China were invited to take part in a coalition government to restore peace and order to that torn country. If Lumumba wasn't a Communist sympathizer when he was appointed premier, he certainly is now.

There is no easy way to peace in the Congo, but it most assuredly cannot be gained by handing over the government to those who would impose tyranny. Even a split nation would be better than letting Lumumba back into Leopoldville. Russia would have only part of a nation then instead of the whole caboodle.

The President and Rep. Powell

President Kennedy sent a warm message of congratulations to Adam Clayton Powell last week when the New York congressman was honored at a dinner celebrating his becoming chairman of the House Committee on Education and Labor. Cabinet Secretaries Arthur Goldberg and Abraham Ribicoff attended along with eleven congressmen. The testimonial banquet gives no credit to the Kennedy administration's spoken emphasis upon responsibility and integrity in government.

Congressman Powell became chairman of the committee simply because of his seniority. He has returned for his ninth consecutive term because his flamboyant oratory appeals to the voters in his Harlem district. He was absent for 51 per cent of the House roll calls in 1960. He is under indictment for a fraudulent income tax return. His main source of campaign oratory is racism, aimed not so much at upholding Negro rights as emphasizing that in a cold, bitter world, he, Adam Powell, is the primary spokesman.

Obviously the Kennedy backing for the affair was an attempt to keep Democratic all those who vote for Mr. Powell (who backed President Eisenhower in 1956). But the over-all effect upon the serious voter, who wants to believe that politics can be an honorable and honest profession, is to emphasize a split in the races and to hold up for emulation a man not worthy of the honor.

The backers of the testimonial dinner were too obviously thinking about 1964. They ought to remember the matter of individual honesty and responsibility in 1961.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

The Kennedy crew urges a huge federal health program. Democrats figure we need lots of medicine for all the bad news they're pumping at us.

As he feels now, Republican Senator Goldwater says he won't seek the presidency in 1964. He trusts, however, the feeling isn't mutual.

The American Medical Association girds to fight parts of Kennedy's health program. New A.M.A. war cry: "Is there an unsocialized doctor in the house?"

Three-year-old Caroline Kennedy stars at the first White House diplomatic reception. It's a sad thought, but she'll be only 11 when her dad is suddenly thrown out of a job.

Republicans vow to rebuild the party from the grass roots. That's all right with the Democrats. The G.O.P. can have the grass roots. All the Democrats want is the city pavements.

The administration plans to build more medical colleges. Since there aren't enough medical school applications now, this will give young men a wider choice of schools they don't want to go to.

Soviet Space Station Has Venus as Target

moon with a rocket, photographing the far side of the moon and orbiting the sun.

The White House issued a terse statement that President Kennedy had been advised of the rocket firing and that the United States had been tracking it ever since. A Defense Department spokesman said the Pentagon knew about the firing before the Soviet Union announced it Sunday.

U. S. Far Behind

Dr. Hugh Dryden, deputy administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said in Washington the United States is at least 1½ to 2 years from achieving the kind of several-stage launching of such a large object reported by the Soviets. But he said he was not surprised by the announcement.

"We have known for some time," Dryden said, "that they had the booster (rocket) capability for such a mission."

U. S. space officials pointed out, however, that the United States already has successfully fired a rocket into the area of Venus with somewhat the same purpose as that announced by the Soviets.

Pioneer V Test

They referred to Pioneer V, the 94.8 pound rocket launched last March 11 from Cape Canaveral, Fla. Its main aim was to go into orbit around the sun, although the general purpose was somewhat like the new Soviet probe, NASA officials said.

Pioneer V lost radio contact with the earth when it was 22.5 million miles away.

The Soviet announcement indicated the Venus launching was an extremely complex operation. It said a multistage rocket carried a Sputnik into orbit, another rocket was launched from the Sputnik and the second rocket fired off "an automatic interplanetary" station with the intent either of hitting Venus or going into orbit around it.

There was no indication of the rocket's present speed. But the first announcement said that at noon Sunday Moscow time the space station already was 126,300 kilometers—75,780 miles—from the earth. The Soviets said the traveler's radio transmitter and other equipment were functioning normally and that the station was being tracked by a special center.

Describes Launching

The Communist party newspaper Pravda proclaimed the Venus shot with an unusual banner line across its front page. The launching was described by Nikolai Karabashov, director of the observatory of Kharkov State University in an article taking up more than half of the second page of Pravda.

The latest Soviet space probe came eight days after the launching of a 7-ton monster satellite whose apparent radio silence mystified Western scientists.

Soviet scientists have been speculating for several months that a rocket to the vicinity of Venus might solve the mystery of whether there is life on the planet.

Venus orbits 67 million miles from the sun—about a third closer than the earth—and thus gets about twice as much sunlight and heat as the earth.

A. Mikhalov, director of the Pulkovo Observatory, reported that the distance between Venus and the earth is now 52.8 million miles but is shortening each day by almost 600,000 miles.

"In the second half of May," Mikhalov told Tass, the Soviet news agency, "the rocket will make its closest approach to Venus and it is possible that this brief span of time will yield more information about this planet than the entire previous history of investigations."

Lumumba and 2 Aides Slain, Katanga Says

fice and sent him to jail for trial on charges of crimes against the nation.

But even in detention Lumumba made his weight felt, and at the time of his death his followers were in control of about a third of the Congo.

U. N. Council Meets

The status of the country has become a point of contention between East and West. The United Nations Security Council was assembling in New York to deal with the problem today as the Katanga government made its announcement of Lumumba's death.

Some U. N. officials had expressed belief the Katanga government's report of Lumumba's escape last Friday was a story designed to cover up his death.

Lumumba Mpolo

Interior Minister Munongo insisted African villagers killed Lumumba, along with two lieutenants, Maurice Mpolo and Joseph Okito, just outside their village yesterday. He said the three were buried there.

"Three cabinet ministers (of the Katanga government) left by plane to see the bodies in order to investigate the killings," Munongo told reporters.

Widespread Search

Munongo said earlier 100 police and provincial troops had been thrown into a search for the Lumumba party, with helicopters and spotter planes. One of these planes sighted the car in which Lumumba supposedly fled.

Katanga province, headed by Moise Tshombe, broke away from Lumumba's central Congo government as the ex-postal clerk took over the prime ministry last summer. This was one of the sorest points the Lumumba regime had to face, because Katanga has most of the Congo's mineral riches.

Jailed by Mobutu

After his arrest Lumumba was first jailed near Leopoldville by Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu, the Congo's military strongman. Three weeks ago the ex-premier was brought to Katanga province on the ground he could be detained more safely here.

Tshombe has insisted Lumumba made a genuine escape last week. But he declared Lumumba's fate was an internal matter and none of the United Nations' business. Over the weekend he refused to cooperate with a U. N. team that came here from Leopoldville to investigate.

Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld of the United Nations had sent Brig. Gen. Mengasha Hyassu of Ethiopia, chief of staff of the U. N. command, to investigate Lumumba's fate.

Yesterday Tshombe said he was awaiting a full report from his own investigators. Jean Tignoe, interior secretary, said last night independent reports from 10 sources in southwest Katanga province seemed to pinpoint Lumumba's hiding place.

Speed State Construction, Nelson Urges completed by March 20 if possible.

Nelson also said the Department of Administration is working on preliminary plans for $17 million in buildings that do not require state appropriations. These projects, which are mainly at the University of Wisconsin and the state colleges, can be constructed just as soon as plans are completed, he said.

New Dormitories

The projects include $7 million for new state dormitories at Eau Claire, La Crosse, River Falls, Stevens Point and Stout and two dormitories each at Platteville and Whitewater.

Six million of new dormitory and food service facilities at the university.

Enlargement of the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee student union at a cost of $1.5 million.

A new genetics building at the university for $1.7 million.

Hydrobiology and high energy facilities at the university for $625,000.

Other Projects

And an employment security building in Madison for $175,000.

Nelson said he has also asked the Department of Administration to accelerate plans for all other projects in the 1961 - 63 building program so they could be advertised for bids at the earliest opportunity should the recession continued after July 1.

At a morning news conference, the governor described Wisconsin's unemployment situation as "bad." "But he said state agencies did not have data on other effects of the current economic slump."

Plans Survey

He said he hoped his swing through northern Wisconsin later this month would provide such information, first-hand.

Nelson also told newsmen he had selected A. Thomas Rose, state employment service director, and Paul Rauschenbush, who heads Wisconsin's Unemployment Compensation Division, to represent the state at a Washington conference Feb. 28 with Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

Goldberg wired Nelson asking Wisconsin representatives to take part in a discussion of "pressing employment service and unemployment insurance matters referred to in President Kennedy's recent messages to Congress."

Students Fire Rocket 1,024 Feet Into Air; Mouse Passenger Dies

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Four Seaman High School seniors fired a mouse-carrying rocket 1,024 feet chute didn't work and the mouse was killed.

Viola Hunt, 60 years a member of the Shawnee County Humane Society, said she would send an immediate report and protest to the National Anti-Vivisection Society headquarters in Chicago.

The rocket firing was supervised by an Air Force officer.

It widened the missile gap between Seaman and Topeka High.

Members of a Topeka team, planning to shoot a rocket—with mouse—next week, watched the Seaman blast-off glumly.

The Seaman boys are Terry Babb, 17; Fred Hill, 17; John Lampe, 18, and Gerald Reedn 18.

Talk of Nixon's Future Brings Mixed Reaction

Reports of Him Waiting for 1968 Provoke Opinions

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Published reports that Richard M. Nixon might wait until 1968 to bid again for the presidency have provoked mixed reaction among Republicans.

Some of Nixon's admirers think it might be a very good idea for the former vice president to run for governor of California in 1962 and, if elected, to seek a second term in 1966 before trying for the presidency.

Other friends believe, however, that it would be a mistake for him to risk a state race in which either success or defeat would be likely to remove him from among the ranks of potential 1964 party nominees.

Would be End

If he runs for governor Nixon could be expected to pledge that he would not quit in the middle of his first four-year term to seek national office. If he lost, his political career would be at an end.

However, the commitment to serve a full term as governor would not be without its reward. Such a pledge would certainly dull any charges that he was ducking another contest with Kennedy and waiting for an opponent in 1968 who lacked the advantages of White House occupancy.

Nixon probably knows as well as anyone else that many organizations have gone politically sour on him since his defeat by President Kennedy last November.

Party officials who travel widely have brought word back to Washington that they have encountered at the state and local levels a great deal of vigorously expressed opinion that if Nixon had listened more to organization men and less to intimate advisers he might have beaten Kennedy.

Lady Accomplished At Ditchdigging—Very Proud of It Too

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A lady ditchdigger?

Why not? asks Esta Belle White, 35, mother of four. "It may not be ladylike, but there are a lot of things women do now that were unheard of a few years ago."

Mrs. White of Madison holds a septic tank installer's license in Lake and Geauga counties and is a partner—a working partner—in the White Excavating Co., founded by her husband, Richard.

White said he started teaching his wife to operate excavating tools a year ago—at her request.

"What she knew about installing septic tanks you could stick in her ear," said White.

But Mrs. White went to work on a practice area on their 70-acre farm and within a few days was digging ditches with the precision of an expert.

Now she can handle all the jobs connected with installing a septic tank system, from estimating costs to putting on the finishing touches.

She has done so well, White has taken another job as a heavy equipment worker on a section of the Ohio North-South Freeway.

"With the business in her hands I don't have to worry," said White.

Mrs. White says when she goes to work people "are a little concerned when they learn a woman is going to do the job, but I haven't received any complaints yet."

Passage May be Eased On Civil Rights Bill

Bi-Partisan Sponsorship Could Bring Significant Extension of Law

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON—Bi-partisan sponsorship may ease the way for potentially controversial legislation that proposes significant extensions of the Wisconsin civil rights laws now before the state senate.

The governor's Commission on Human Rights has obtained the introduction of its bill with the sponsorship of Republican Senator Carr of Janesville, O'Brien of Green Bay and Bice of LaCrosse and Democratic Senators Wilkie of Madison, Stalbaum of Racine and Moser of Milwaukee.

Bice is the chairman of the Senate Committee on Welfare which will report on the bill to the Senate after a hearing. Moser is the leader of the senate Democratic minority.

The measure approved by the non-partisan governor's commission, and endorsed by Gov. Nelson, has three major objectives:

1. Extending the authority of the commission to hold hearings and issue orders in difficult cases of discrimination that are not subject to correction by the usual methods of persuasion that have been employed by the commission since its creation 15 years ago.

2. Expand the public accommodations denial of rights law to make it illegal for all places of accommodation, amusement or business that serve the public to discriminate on the basis of race, religion or national origin.

3. Enact a new section of the

Rocket to Venus Called Important

New Exploration Phase, Space Platform, Soviet Lead Indicated

NEW YORK (AP)—The Soviet Union's Venus-bound messenger is her most spectacular and significant space shot in several respects:

1. It apparently opens a fourth phase in the Soviet space program—to explore the planets. The next and fifth stage could be to put man into space.
2. The Soviet Union created, in effect, a space platform from which to launch a talkative and guided visitor with a good chance of hitting or going into orbit around Venus. Orbiting and seemingly innocent space platforms, say some military experts, might also be used suddenly to launch nuclear warhead rockets downward at prime targets on earth.
3. It is another dramatic demonstration of the Soviet lead in space capabilities, and of quick exploitation of space frontiers before that capability is equalled or surpassed.

Worthy Target

To amplify these points: The Soviet Union's first phase was three Sputniks exploring space and space conditions near earth. Then came three shots concerned largely with the moon. Then three studying effects on animals and other life in space travel around the earth.

Now the fourth stage is the exploratory reach towards nearby planets, with a space craft carrying a Soviet banner, as did the one which hit the moon in 1959.

Veiled by obscuring white clouds, Venus is a worthy first planetary target. The weight—1,418 pounds—of the Venus messenger indicates it carries instruments which could answer puzzling questions about Venus, if the probe comes near enough in mid-May and still can radio back what it finds.

Could Teach

Soviet announcements have not yet spelled out what the equipment may be. But it could be so equipped that radioed data might supply more accurate knowledge about the size and mass of Venus, perhaps give clues about its temperature, and the possibility of forms of life on Venus.

En route, the space vehicle could add greatly to knowledge about radiations in space; magnetic fields, and effects of the sun and space phenomena upon life on earth.

The record for radioing back data about space now is held by the U.S. probe, Pioneer V, which kept talking over a distance of 22½ million miles while it went out to become a little man-made planet of the sun.

Launched from Sputnik

The Venus messenger did not directly take off from earth. It was launched from a bigger Sputnik, weighing perhaps seven tons, which had been put into earth orbit, the Soviets report.

Circling rapidly above the earth, the rocket for Venus already had overcome part of the problem of the earth's heavy tug of gravity before it was launched, due to its height and its speed.

It could thus carry fuel, control rockets and a "brain" mechanism to guide it more accurately to hit or circle Venus than could a probe of similar weight launched initially from earth.

One dream for the space age is to rocket up into a precise orbit the prefabricated material which men in space then could put together to fashion great service stations from which big and lightweight space ships, also assembled in space, could take off efficiently on the months-long space missions.

The Soviets have taken steps along these lines.

'Mystery' Guests Must Have Had Very Good Time

HIGHLAND PARK, Ill. (AP)—Mystery guests visited the Arthur Goldsmith home and had themselves quite a party while the Goldsmiths were on a trip.

The uninvited guests drank up $150 worth of whiskey and champagne and smoked $5 worth of cigarettes. The oven was warm, indicating food had been cooked and eaten. A two-pound salami was taken from the ice box.

Even the hi-fi set had been played because records were strewn on the cabinet. Half-finished highballs were found on the dressers in the master bedroom and the shower had been used.

Presidents-Added Faster Than Streets

JUNEAU, Wis. (AP) — The United States keeps adding presidents but the town of Ashippun has run out of roads to bear their names.

The little community has roads named after Jefferson, Washington, Monroe, Taylor, Fillmore, Lincoln, Cleveland, Taft, Harding, Coolidge, Hoover, Adams and Roosevelt.

Town Chairman Conrad Schwartz regrets that there's no Eisenhower or Kennedy roads, but he commented:

"We have no more unnamed roads and it would be too confusing to change names we now have."

Wisconsin telephone users can reach almost any phone in the world and these represent the number of phones in the world of the end of 1959. All figures in the report are as of the end of 1959. At that time, the number of phones in the world rose to 133.6 million, a gain of the United States had 70,821,000, almost 9 million over the previous year. More than half of these phones are in the United States. The U. S. also led the field in telephone density with 39.3 phones per 100 population. Of the Wisconsin cities listed (over 50,000 population), Madison has 33.1 telephones for every 100 persons; Milwaukee is second with 46.1; Racine, 43; Green Bay, 42.8; and Kenosha, 40. The "talkingest" people in the world, according to the report, are Canadians. They averaged 530 phone conversations per person in 1959. Next was Iceland, with 508 74 per cent in that period, while in Asia the number of phones was more than tripled. In Europe and South America they doubled. No growth figures were available since 1950, the report shows, the number of telephones in the world has almost doubled. The United States' phones increased 1959. Motor Habits of Us Americans Are Funny Too, Charlie Says

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Recently I was plodding my way through a treatise in an erudite scientific journal which discussed "The Motor Habits of the Navajo Indian."

I was surprised to discover this passage: "The Navajo Indian nods his head to indicate 'yes' and shakes it from side to side to mean 'no.'"

Now I do not intend to fib at the author of the phrase, nor at the journal itself because the motor habits of various peoples are very different from ours. Besides, there is not sensible reason for nodding a 'yes' and shaking a 'no.' It is just as reasonable to do it the other way.

But I got to thinking about the motor habits of the American people, and I think they are funny. Please do not complain to the management.

The American will climb into his automobile on Sundays and he will look around, usually out of the side or the rear windows, and he will bump into people and into automobiles which have drivers who are doing the same thing.

The custom is called Sunday driving and it is employed as a method of thinning out an exploding population.

In one section of the new world, the citizens of a widespread region worship gladiators whose employment it is to run up and down a large field with an oval-shaped bag filled with air.

If the gladiators run successfully without being impeded by other gladiators gathered there from another region of the country, an entire local populace will bring the palms of their hands together with great force, and they will utter unintelligible shrieks.

A certain number of points, called "scores" may be made by the bands of gladiators. If the local band achieve a greater number of scores than the visiting band, everybody dances and give remarkable evidences of effusive joy. The local band of gladiators is then worshipped.

Each band of gladiators is directed in their movements up and down the field by a leader who is worshipped also, unless the local band is defeated. In such case, the leader is invited to leave the community. In the case of a victory by the local team, the leader is termed "a genius." In case of defeat, he is termed "a bum."

Such ceremonies are seasonal because the local Americans are not physiologically capable of sustaining such emotional strains on a daily, year-around basis.

Also seasonal is a ceremony called "fishing." Certain native Americans are capable of extravagant love for the act of fishing.

Such natives, equipped with various kinds of devices, go to such lakes and rivers which are not polluted. There they throw the devices into the water with the avowed intent of having a fish (a finny creature which lives in water which is not polluted, and is desired as an edible) leap upon the device and swallow it. They hardly ever do.

But when the fish does swallow the device, it is pulled out of the water and weighed and measured. This does not improve its flavor, but is done for the purpose of endless conversation.

Very young Americans are remarkable in vitality which occasionally stirs them into action which is unacceptable to their seniors.

The adult then raises a finger, or points it at the direction of the offender and ejaculates a single word: "Stoppiti!"

This is a preparatory step in the ceremony. The next step takes place when the adult enjoins its young to take a position upon a lap. And while in this position, the adult applauds the posterior of the young.

Great noises emanate from the youth during this applause which is delivered with some force. The senior stops long enough to ask if the young ever intends to do "that" again, and the young replies "no."

The senior then provides its young with a nickel, a monetary unit of no value except for giving it to young who do not know this.

From time to time an American male adult will venture into a building which is characterized by a long bench which runs from one end of the room to the other.

A glass, filled with liquid substance will be placed in front of the visitor. He will grasp it in his hand — either the right one or the left — and place it to his lips. When he sets the glass down the contents of the glass will have disappeared.

The ceremony is repeated an arbitrary number of times and is termed "working late."

Plan Social Service Study In Twin Cities

NEENAH — Types of social services which should be available and those locally offered to children and families will be studied by the Wisconsin Department of Public Welfare's division of children and youth, under auspices of the Neenah - Menasha Community Chest.

The study should be completed by early spring. Agencies to be surveyed will include Children's Service, Salvation Army, Family Service, Neenah-Menasha Apostolate and Community Council.

Representatives of the children and youth division working locally will be R. C. Gladioux and Miss Mary McDowell. The 12-member local committee will be D. C. Shepard Jr., chairman; J. W. Casper, vice chairman, and Gerald Aldridge, Hayward Biggers, J. P. Buchanan, John T. Heigl, the Rev. L. Clarence Kelley, Miss Aileen Rummel, Ralph Risley, Mrs. S. P. Spencer, Miss June Tenckhoff and Robert Vanevenhoven. Ex-officio members will be Mrs. I. v. e. a. x. Anderson, Community Council president, and Joseph F. Ryan, Community Chest first vice president.

Care Must Be Given Child's Spine And Nervous System

Parents are you doing all that you can to keep your children healthy?

You may have their eyes examined, their tonsils taken out, and have them immunized against some of the minor children's diseases, but in so doing you have only skimmed the surface.

The numerous falls and injuries children are subject to may cause trouble in the spine and nervous system even though no damage was apparent at the time. You may recall that many of the children's fevers, digestive disturbances, nervous spells, earaches and headaches have followed a fall or injury. Injuries in childhood are the basis for many chronic ailments in later life.

Most children's ailments respond very readily to chiropractic adjustments. Don't hesitate to investigate what Chiropractic can do for the health of your children.

Reformatory Likely to Use Camp McCoy

Critical Problem Of Overcrowding Would be Relieved

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY—Wisconsin State Reformatory officials received more definite word today from Sanger Powers, director of the state Division of Corrections, on use of some facilities at Camp McCoy to relieve inmate overcrowding resulting from the historic high population at the reformatory.

Powers told reformatory Supt. M. A. Skaff that the inactive Army facilities have been selected to relieve the situation at the reformatory. While state welfare authorities have settled upon the Camp McCoy space, the transfer of some reformatory inmates still is contingent upon approval by the U.S. Army, but this is expected.

The Reformatory's population set a new record of 1,043 inmates last Friday and today was even higher — 1,048. The totals include capacity numbers at two outlying units and men quartered on cots in cell hall corridors at the institution proper.

Powers informed Skaff today that 75 inmates could be transferred to Camp McCoy. This followed previous determination that by the reformatory's classification committee that there are that many inmates eligible as trustees for such confinement.

Work in Forest

The corrections division chief reported that two side-by-side barracks type buildings at the camp would be used, one for housing and the other for food service and recreation. The 75 trustees assigned there would work in the Black River State Forest and the central Wisconsin Conservation area, both about 20 miles from the camp.

Skaff, long concerned over potential results of the overcrowding in the reformatory, said that once the go-ahead to use Camp McCoy is given and the reformatory engineer can survey the facilities, 15 to 20 inmates will be taken there immediately to get the place activated before the full 75-man complement is transferred there.

Powers said of the reformatory population trend, "The overcrowding problem is going to get worse before it gets better. No relief is in sight until the fall of 1962 when Fox Lake (medium security prison) is opened."

He sees the reformatory population mounting to 1,100 by this spring.

"The educational program and work opportunities are suffering because we're not getting adequate work training as a result, and school classes are overcrowded," he said.

Friendship Results In Dishpan Hands

TRINIDAD, Colo. —A crew-cut youngster walked into Trinidad's Community Hall and promptly was pushed into the kitchen.

An hour later, the Holy Trinity High School Football Mothers' benefit dinner was over.

When the boy took off his dish-washing apron, one of the mothers thanked him and asked:

"What position on the team do you play?"

"I don't," the youngster answered, "I just came up here looking for a friend."

The Ailing House Plan Now For Real Easter Eggs

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN COATING EGG SHELLS
Q: Is there any coating I can apply to empty egg shells to protect them? I usually blow out eggs and decorate the shells for Easter. I would like to start collecting the shells now and decorate them later.

A: Be sure to blow out all egg from the shells; have the surface as clean as possible. Then apply a coat of pure, fresh white shellac, either sprayed on, or thin. Be sure wall surface underneath is first free of any trace of grease, grime, etc., before mounting map. Or rubber cement can be used to attach the map to the wall; this is more easily removed for a long while. Now that we are using it, we discover it has developed a dank, musty odor. How can the odor be eliminated?

A: The felt pads have probably become mildewed due to storage in a damp place. The pads probably need replacement. This is a job for a professional.

MOUNTING MAP ON WALL
Q: Have you a good suggestion for mounting and finishing a large 4 by 6-foot world map on a plastered, painted wall?

A: If you want to mount this permanently to the wall, I suggest spraying the back of the map with shellac (better get someone to help you with this job!) and then, before shellac dries, mount it on the section of the wall previously marked out for the map. Be sure wall surface underneath is first free of any trace of grease, grime, etc., before mounting map. Or rubber cement can be used to attach the map to the wall; this is more easily removed.

Your Problems Man With Spooky Motors Is Afraid Girl Put Hex on Him

BY ANNE LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: I used to go with a girl but dropped her because she got too spooky.

This girl was sort of a spiritualist and she told me she'd put a hex on me for quitting her. I don't believe in evil spirits but this is what has happened:

I'm a mechanic in a machine shop and I operate a seven horsepower motor. Since I left that girl the motor will not run. Being a mechanic I took it apart every which way and could find nothing wrong. I took it to two other mechanics and they can't explain it either. The motor will run in their shops, but not in mine!

My car has been giving me trouble, too. I can't get more than five miles to the gallon. I even changed carburetors but it didn't help. Can it be that she has cast a spell over my motors? How do you explain this? — Van

DEAR VAN: No one has the power to cast a spell over anyone or anything. This is phony, voo-doo malarky. "Spellcasters" shake people up by scaring them half to death. Scared people can't function as well as they should and when things go wrong they persuade themselves it's because of the "spell."

I'm no mechanic, but I can tell you from here that there's something mechanically wrong with your motors. Trade them in on new ones. If something goes wrong with the new motors it will be attributable to more mechanical trouble. . . which would be a rotten coincidence.

DEAR ANN: *My brother and his wife call themselves "souvenir hunters." I have another name for them. Please tell me if I'm right.

They take towels, silverware, ashtrays (and whatever they can get in a pocketbook or suitcase) out of hotels, restaurants, off trains and planes, private clubs and so on. The linen and silver is all clearly marked "Hilton Hotels, Sheraton, New York Central" and so on. These people have children who can read and

I accepted. A few of the me-own. I think they are setting a poor example.

Am I right, or am I overly critical because I want to consider myself better than they are — as my husband says? — Not Budging

DEAR NOT: Silverware, ashtrays and linen are provided as part of the service. They are not meant to be carried away as souvenirs.

It's very confusing to youngsters to be told they must not steal, when their parents blithely lift property and bring it home as if it belonged to them.

Today's Etiquette BY LOUISE DAVIS

MONEY, MONEY EVERYWHERE
I have had my ears pinned back by my sister-in-law who says I have committed a social blunder. My daughter-in-law, who lives a long distance away, is having a baby. I am giving a shower for her next week. Because none of us here know anything about the baby's lay-out, I asked my friends to give money instead of presents. Because of the distance, my daughter-in-law won't be here, but does that make any difference?

Needle Work
Louise Davis Answers:
I'm pinning your ears back too. Members of a family should avoid giving showers which would be forcing obligations on friends. A gift of money is practical, but money is mercenary unless the receiver needs it badly. At your party, much of the joy will be missing. The guest of honor will be absent. The other guests will miss the fun of seeing the baby gifts that the others might have brought. I receive complaints daily from people who object to the gift obligations that have been imposed on them. They also object to the propriety of such a thing, especially when shower hostesses are members of the family of those receiving gifts. In many cases, the friendship or acquaintance is too remote. Yet the invited guests feel that they can do nothing but spend their money. As far as your son, daughter-in-law and coming infant are concerned, you are thoughtful because you wish to give them pleasure. But can you be objective in thinking that your friends are just as happy to contribute?

A Lovelier You By Mary Sue Miller

Twin Chins
A lovely writes: I recently lost 20 pounds by dieting, but I am still plagued with a double chin. How can I get rid of it?

The answer: Losing weight does not guarantee the complete reduction of a double chin. But as a rule, it does better appearances somewhat.

In overcoming the problem altogether, there are two additional steps—corrective exercise and improved carriage of the head. Both act to tighten the muscles and firm the skin, to draw them into a firm, single chinline.

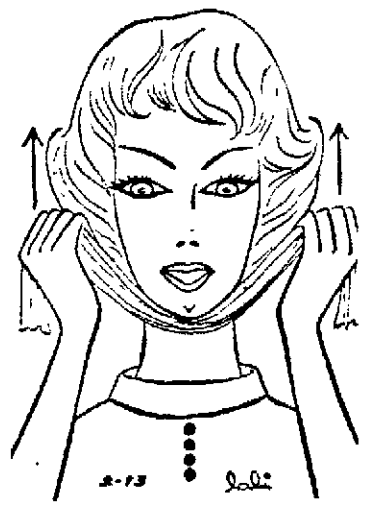

Two excellent exercises follow: Drop your head back and try to touch lower lip to nose. You can, with a folded handkerchief. Pull not, but it's the try that counts. up hard on the ends, and at the Make a "sling" for your chin same time push down hard with your chin. Let it be a regular tug-of-war!

Perform each routine ten times daily. Also work slowly and deliberately. When possible, cream your face and throat beforehand, stroking the throat upward with your palms and molding the jaw outward between the thumbs and index fingers. But for want of a creaming, do not skip a workout.

As for the carriage of your head, it must be erect, with the neck pulled out of the shoulders and the chin parallel to the floor. Held lower, one chin can soon become two!

If housework saps your energies, looks and nerves, send for my booklet, "Beauty of Housework." It explains how to keep home and self sparkling with time to spare. Also included are an effort-saving work plan, shortcuts in housekeeping, and advice on how to give yourself a beauty treatment while engaged in your duties. For your copy, write me in care of your newspaper, enclosing 20 cents in coin and a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Neenah Woman Talks on India

NEENAH — "An American Woman in India" will be the topic of Mrs. Robert Law, 224 Washington Ave., who will be speaker for Woman's Tuesday Club at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Boys' Brigade Building.

Mrs. Law went to India in 1932 as the wife of a missionary, where they made their home in the small, village of Chodavaram in Andhra Pradesh, an area located along the Bay of Bengal. Their son, Tim, was born there. In 1958 they left India, and returned to the United States via Malaya and Japan.

Since returning to the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Law have made their home in Neenah, where Mr. Law teaches at Wilson School. Mrs. Law will show a short movie film in conjunction with her talk.

Designing Woman BY ELIZABETH HILLYER

New Fabrics Solve Close Quarter Decorating Problems

Look beyond the eye appeal and old home for a buffet, but it doesn't match the chairs exactly and I'm afraid there would be too many finishes even though all the furniture is in the same wood.

If you know or can find out what company made the chairs, you might look first for a table by the same company since one or more might be available in the same finish. However, finishes by the same company often vary slightly whether or not the pieces of furniture are bought at the same time. This is particularly true because today's preference is for finishes that use little stain and show the wood as it is naturally, and since woods naturally vary, all pieces are not expected to match exactly.

The secret is the use of a single soft color with just enough variation of shades to produce the stripes on the bed and the plaid on a back rest for it and the wall. This avoids the monotony of one fabric where so much is required for window expanses and a bed cover, but keeps everything in the corner gently blended together. Color needn't be neutral and lifeless — this setting is shown in amethyst, with only pillows in contrast, a blaze of red and purple. The fabric, plain, striped and plaid, is a sturdy cotton tweed.

Mrs. F. C. "We recently moved into a new home that has a separate dining room. The drop-leaf table we used before in a living-dining room looks too small now and we are willing to replace it, but we also could use two more chairs. Would it be best to wait until we can buy all new furniture, or shall I try to find a new table that's a fairly close match to the walnut chairs we have, and buy new upholstered host and hostess chairs? We use a long walnut cabinet from our

GOLD PAPER LAMP SHADES
Q: We have a pair of new gold paper lamp shades for lamps at either end of a sofa. How are these cleaned?

A: Just vacuuming, or dusting, is required for this type of shade. To prevent the paper from drying out or becoming too brittle, treat the surface occasionally with a mixture of paraffin oil and turpentine, using one tablespoon of turpentine to one-half cup of paraffin oil. After ten minutes, be sure to wipe off any surplus oil carefully.

SPRAYING BRICK HOUSE
Q: Our red brick house is several years old. We don't like the color looks against the landscape. Could we spray paint it?

A: Brick surfaces can be spray painted, but be sure to use top quality paint, no matter what type you choose. And be sure the surface of brick is free of all trace of grease, soot, grime, etc., before manufacturer's instructions on the paint container carefully. If you have agitating equipment with your sprayer, a cement base paint, coming in powder form to be mixed with water, can be used. Otherwise, either a ready-mixed rubber base masonry paint, thinned before using, or cement-base masonry paint will be necessary. Vinyl and plastic-type house paint, gives a smooth, non-powdering finish, and is excellent for brick, concrete and wood surfaces.

had to sit on a little hard chair for a long, long time?"
"I don't remember having to do so. No. Why?"
"Today I guess she forget us 'cause she sat at the desk writing, writing, writing, and if anybody so much as wiggled she tapped with her pen and said, 'Hush-up.' Did you have that when you went?"

Remembers Games
"Oh, I guess so. But I don't remember that much but I do remember the games and the parties. On Valentine's day, such fun. We all made Valentines, then on Valentine's day we all got Valentines and we had pink heart cookies, and pink ice cream. Such fun. I think maybe you will have a party like that. I'm sure you will." (Mother would see to that.)

Parents often forget what a keen interest their children have in their past experiences; what happened to them in school; what kind of experiences they had with their teachers; what friends they had and what they did in play hours. When a father or mother takes time to tell their children some of their past experiences, including troubles, failures, scrapes, as well as successes, a web of affectionate understanding is woven that becomes an enormous strengthening bond of understanding between them as the years pass. Mother had her first beau, her first big party, and the party dress, her first disappointment in a friend and if she tells her story truthfully, she will help her daughter more than a thousand parental lectures could ever hope to do.

Tell Trials
The same idea applies to fathers. If they would tell their small boys stories of their day, their trials, troubles and tribulations at the same age, they would loom taller and stronger than ever in the minds of their small sons, and if they continued to draw from their past experiences in truth and faith they could become the greatest influence for good in the lives of their children.

It helps parents to keep on an even keel when considering their children's accomplishments so to refresh their memories. The father who never got an A card in his life, never took 'honors' but managed to get by might not be so hard on his son who gets an occasional B.
Too often, parents keep their past youth a closed book. If they opened it occasionally for the benefit of their children, they would help themselves and the children to better understanding.

Sheinwold Cross Ruff, Tamed, Is A Good Pet

Some black-hearted canasta player has been spreading the rumor that a cross ruff is a small fresh-water fish in an angry state of mind.
I have investigated this carefully, as part of the service due to readers of this newspaper, and can assure you that there's nothing in it at all. The true cross ruff, known to science also as the ruffle-puffle, is shown here today with its fangs carefully removed.

West leads the queen of spades, and you have an easy way to make four hearts. That is, the way is easy if you know all about cross-ruffs.
Count your tricks. You have the ace of spades and the ace of diamonds as your chief assets in the side suits. You need eight trump tricks to win the game and rubber.
How do you make eight trump tricks? It's no feat to win tricks with your own five trumps. The important thing is to win three trump tricks in dummy — by ruffing.
What can you ruff three times in dummy? Clubs, of course. So you start early by taking the ace of spades and returning a club.
Will Lead Trump
An opponent wins and returns a trump. Whenever you look as though you want to ruff cards in the dummy an alert opponent will lead a trump.
You win the trump in dummy and cash the ace of diamonds. What do you discard? A spade. As we have seen, you intend to ruff three clubs in dummy. It would never do to discard one of your clubs, for then you would give up one of your ruffing tricks. The opponents would have a chance to lead another trump, and the game would go glimmering.
Now the stage is set for the cross-ruff. You lead a diamond from dummy and ruff in your hand. The next step is to lead a club from your hand and ruff in dummy. Continue this process as long as possible, and you'll wind up with the ten tricks that you need.

The only angry fish is East — because his partner didn't open a trump.
Daily Question
Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You have: S, K 9 8 4, H, 2, D, Q J 10 4 2, C, A 8 5. What do you say?
Answer: Bid three spades. The hand is too strong for a jump to ruff, known to science also as the ruffle-puffle. The jump to three shows high cards as well as trump support; the jump to four would show very little high card strength.

Fire Loss Put At $125,000

Marshal, Chief Inspecting 80-Year Old Structure to Determine Cause of Blaze

Fire damage to one of Appleton's oldest downtown business buildings is estimated at at least $125,000. Fire Chief Alfred Arnold said today. The building, at 102 E. College Ave., was hit by fire Saturday morning.

The 80-year-old structure houses Grace's Apparel Shop, the George Lange Insurance and Real Estate Agency, the DeLuxe Leauty Salon and offices occupied by Dr. O. R. Busch, Dr. Stephan Konz, Dr. Raymond VanSusteren and John Stevens. It is owned by the Whedon Corp. of Appleton and two California parties.

40 Firemen

Arnold said Saturday that the fire broke out between the first and second floors above a false ceiling in the apparel shop. The floor of the Lange Agency was burned away and the heat spread through the walls. When the sign was opened and air entered the area, fires broke out in the walls on the first and second floors, a fireman said.

About 40 Appleton firemen fought the blaze for two hours.

Teams Win Half of Debates

Appleton, Neenah, Kaukauna Can't Go To State Contests

Three Fox Cities high school debate teams made 3-3 records in sectional competition at Stevens Point Saturday. Since four wins were needed to qualify for state competition, Appleton, Neenah and Kaukauna debaters were eliminated.

Kaukauna High School's negative team, Lynn Kehoe and Frances Nelson, won its debates against Wisconsin Rapids, Wausau and Tomah, but the KHS affirmative team, Anthonie Schlude and Jeffrey DeBruin, lost to Preble, Kewaskum and Stevens Point. The Kaukaunans were the only team to beat Wausau.

Appleton High School affirmative team, Neil Stillings and Michael Liethen, won over Wisconsin Rapids and Kewaskum but lost to Wausau. Taking the negative side, James Dumke and Charles Dostal defeated Green Bay West but lost to Tomah and Merrill.

Neenah's negative team, William Schockley and James Hedlund, won over Kewaskum and Wisconsin Rapids and lost to Wausau. NHS affirmative debaters Betsy Billings and Rita Buck defeated Merrill and lost to Preble and Stevens Point.

Coaches are Edward Flynn, Appleton, Dennis Kral, Kaukauna, and William E. Dunwiddie, Neenah.

MENASHA — Arthur Manning, 33, 829 Broad St., today forfeited $50 fine and $4 court costs in Police Justice Arthur J. Ales' court on a drunken and disorderly conduct charge.

The charge, brought by Police Chief Peter P. Clark, arose out of a disturbance Dec. 22 at 808 Broad St., the address of the Menasha Municipal Water filtration plant.

Consultant Cites Joint Port Values

Orderly Development for New Craft Seen by Engineers

NEENAH — Advantage factors were cited by A. W. Compton, vice president for aviation projects of Clyde E. Williams and Associates consultant engineering firm, as reasons for a new single regional airport to serve the air carrier and heavy general aviation needs of the Fox Valley metropolitan community.

He agreed with the proposal that Winnebago and Outagamie counties join in construction of such a regional airport. The advantages he cited are:

1. Can be planned for orderly development of the airport to accommodate increased traffic and the transition from propeller to intermediate jet propelled aircraft which will be used in this community if safe ground facilities are available within the next 10 years.
2. A jointly sponsored airport serving a large population will have a much higher priority when additional air service is requested.
3. Combining service of two airports into one airport will give a better service pattern to the airlines and consequently better scheduling for the public.
4. A higher priority due to traffic and service area when re-

Store Burns

'Looks Like a Fire Sale' Is Quiet Comment at Height of Fire Frenzy

BY DAVID SCHAEFER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"Looks like there's going to be a fire sale."

This wry, quiet comment by a clerk at Kinney's Shore Store Saturday morning was in sharp contrast to the excitement that was going on around him.

The building next door was on fire. He was standing in a store filled with smoke. Thirty feet away firemen were working feverishly to reach the source of the blaze.

All was not calm. The first people to feel the impact of the fire were the occupants of the building. They were ushered out in an orderly manner.

Crowd of Shoppers

Then there was the youth whose car collided with the fire chief's car as a fireman went to pick up Chief Alfred Arnold. The youth stood in the intersection of Washington and Appleton Streets with a dazed expression on his face. It must have seemed that wherever he looked there was a man in a uniform.

At the corner of College Avenue and Oneida Street over a thousand Saturday morning shoppers formed a semi-circle to watch the activity. Amateur photographers had a field day as 40 firemen spread a spiderweb of hoses around the building, chopped through the sign at Grace's Apparel shop and stretched aerial ladders to the top of the buildings.

In Grace's Bridal Shop manager Robert Schultz pounded on the telephone, but it was dead.

Flames In Windows

"Wires must have burned through," he said. A thin veil of smoke filled the store. Schultz explained that wedding clothes that had been ordered for weddings in the immediate future had been moved to safety. He added that the owners, the Bergers, had left for Florida Friday.

A ripple of excitement went through the crowd as flames broke out in second and third story windows. Two firemen on an aerial ladder shielded their faces

Panel of Experts Agree

Home Is Key to Control Of Alcoholism Problem

NEENAH — The key to control of the problem of alcohol is in the home, a panel of a psychiatrist, social worker, judge, doctor and family service director agreed Sunday evening.

The moderator for the discussion at First Methodist Church as it relates to the local community was the Rev. L. Clarence Kelley, who described alcoholism as one of the largest and most complex problems our society faces. "We all come in contact with it, either through friends, relatives or taxation," he said.

Dr. David Buran pointed out the family doctor is looked on as a "stop gap mechanism." The doctor often is confronted with making the patient aware of the fact of alcoholism, he said.

Categories

The doctor listed the categories of the alcoholic patient as the problem drinker, the person who has a problem and drinks as the means of solution; the problem drinker expanded, the person who has more difficulties because drinking began to solve the original problem, and the person habituated to alcohol. Most of the alcoholics "are not brought to our attention because of alcohol," he went on.

Judge Arnold J. Cane warned of the lower age at which teenagers begin drinking, explaining that youngsters of 13, 14 and 15 years are getting into trouble through alcohol.

Listing the great percentage of court cases that involve alcohol, he said 80 to 90 per cent of sex crimes have a connection with alcohol and practically every case of wife-beating or non-support has a problem of drinking involved.

Follow Parents

The judge pointed out that children are influenced by what they see their parents doing. If the parents are drinking and have no respect for the law, it is not surprising that the children do likewise, he said.

Auto Travels 6,250 Feet in Road Crash

OSHKOSH — James A. Moseng, 28, 771 S. Commercial St., Neenah, complained of a sore chest and a head injury after his car went off Highway 41 in the Town of Algoma at 12:40 a.m. Saturday and traveled 6,250 feet.

He was going north off the Highway 21 ramp road to enter Highway 41. His car knocked down three highway markers, hit the guard rail on the Highway 41 bridge on the east side, went across the road and hit the west side guard rail and continued on before going off the highway at the north end of the bridge. His car traveled a total distance of 6,250 feet from where it hit the first highway marker.

Moseng said he apparently fell asleep at the wheel, heard some banging, which he thought was a blowout, and then the next thing he knew there was a bright light shining in his face. He didn't identify the light.

Youth Admits Shooting Self At New Franken

Dennis Seidl Uses Shotgun, Slug to Inflict Chest Wound

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY—A Town of Humboldt teenage boy remained in critical condition at St. Vincent Hospital here today with a chest wound from a shotgun slug which he admitted firing into himself after midnight Sunday.

Brown County police who are investigating the shooting identified him as Dennis Seidl, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Seidl, New Franken.

Four friends of Dennis were questioned about the shooting and were released. They had been with Dennis during the evening and also rode with him when he damaged his father's farm truck, said to have been a factor which worried the boy before he shot himself.

Dennis' parents arrived home about 1 a.m. today and found their son lying on the floor of his bedroom and the shotgun nearby, police said.

Questioning of Dennis' companions by police indicated they had been at his home during the evening. Their activities included playing cards and drinking some liquor and beer which some of the boys had brought from their homes.
The other four said that at one time during the evening they accompanied Dennis on a ride in his father's truck. The vehicle was damaged when it ran off a roadway. They drove it back.
The other boys said they took a gun away from Dennis at one time during the night after he had threatened to shoot himself. They had left when Dennis, as he admitted later, loaded the shotgun and used it on himself. Plaster on the butt of the weapon showed the boy held the gun against a wall when he pulled the trigger.

Clintonville Tot Falls Into Boiling Water

Boiling water had been poured into a container in preparation for scalding chickens and Sandy stumbled into the water. She was brought to Clintonville Community Hospital for emergency treatment, and transferred immediately to the St. Elizabeth Hospital, Appleton.

Area Residents Among Survivors of Man Who Died in Fire

Four Fox Cities area residents were among survivors of a Wisconsin Rapids man who died Friday in a fire at his home.

Survivors among his two brothers and seven sisters include Andrew Reinhart, Menasha; Mrs. Kenneth Storch and Mrs. Earl Moore, Appleton, and Mrs. William Beotler, Oshkosh.

Fire Damage Saturday to the interior of the building at 102 E. College Ave., was heaviest in the George Lange Insurance and Real Estate Agency. The desk is slipping into a section of floor over the area in which the fire started. This dentist's office near the rear of the building was damaged by smoke and water.

Clintonville Youth Finds Way Out of Woods After Being Lost

CLINTONVILLE — A rural west of Clintonville just off County Trunk O. John had traveled east out of the woods onto U.S. 45, then back along to "O". It was estimated he probably walked from eight to 10 miles.

John Kroll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kroll, route 1, Clintonville, had gone into the woods at 4 p.m. and obtained some beech wood for a school project. When nearly out of the woods, he turned back to get a hatchet he had forgotten. He became confused in the dark woods and lost his sense of direction.

His parents tried to locate him, and when they were not successful, a call was placed to Clintonville for help. A rescue unit was dispatched with other volunteers.

Clarence Draeger, of the Waupaca County Traffic patrol and Undersheriff George Meating assisted. More than 75 volunteers, rescue squad, sheriff's deputies, conservation wardens and relatives formed search parties and combed through a wide area.

Ivan Korth with some men in his car came upon the boy on County Trunk O, near the driveway of the Fred Schley farm, about two miles from his home. Other than being exhausted, John was all right.

The Krolls live five miles south-

Common Sense for Grade Athletics Urged

KAUKAUNA — The Rev. Richard Kleiber, superintendent of schools for the Green Bay Diocese, urged members of the Home-School Association of Holy Cross Grade School to use a common sense approach to athletics at the grade school level.

Results of excessive grade school inter-scholastic athletics include excessive attention to a few athletes, emotional strain, youngsters do not get adequate rest and time for studies, and physical dangers of over exertion and injury, Father Kleiber said.

Curtail Sports
He emphasized the purpose of a Catholic education as "spiritual, intellectual and physical." He suggested elimination of grade school tackle football limiting the number of inter-scholastic basketball games, participation in only one grade cage tournament and limitations on travel to any game to 15 or 20 miles.

Other suggestions included minimizing the glamor given grade school athletics and not using school time for games, practice or traveling to games. The priest said, "physical education should extend from grades one through eight" and advocated a lay teacher to handle physical education.

as they turned a hose against a second floor window that had filled with flames. They were only a few feet away from it.

And at the same time a gray-haired lady in a jewelry store across the street carefully inspected two watches and listened as Sam Belinke explained the relative merits of the American make and a foreign make. Not once did she glance out of the window. When she had made her decision, she left with scarcely a glance at the fire.

Threat to Stamp Shop
Inside the burning building it was black as night. Firemen used spotlights to probe through the smoke and picked their steps carefully on the rubbery floor of the George Lange Agency. Large sections of the floor had been chopped or burned away. Occasionally they hung their heads out of the windows to get a breath of fresh air.

Outside of the firemen, one of the busiest people on scene was Mrs. Gordon Hawley, whose husband owns a stamp shop in the Kinney building. She watched wide-eyed as firemen took hoses up the entrance to the shop, undoubtedly visualizing what would happen if a stream of water hit her stamps.

She asked permission to go up with the firemen to rescue the stamps. Chief Arnold said she couldn't, but added that if she could get a ladder she could go through the rear.

And that's just what she did. With a ladder borrowed from the Conway Hotel, her husband, who arrived on the scene just in time, went in through the back window and brought down a briefcase full of stamps.

Style Show Goes on
When last seen, Mrs. Hawley was looking for a fireman to help carry the shop's safe down the ladder.

Since the fire was confined to the front of the building, Dr. O. R. Busch strolled up a side fire escape, crawled in a window and emerged a few minutes later with some of his records. "The water went over the top of my rubbers," he commented.

Saturday afternoon firemen, store owners, insurance representatives and maintenance men went through the dripping building.

2 Deny Charges Of Drunk Driving; Trials Next Month

OSHKOSH — Richard J. LaFond, 29, route 1, Neenah, today denied charges of drunken driving and operating before furnishing proof of financial responsibility. Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane set trial for March 21, with bond of $350.

LaFond was arrested by county police at 11:16 p.m. Saturday after his car skidded off County Highway A, near Richter's Bay, Town of Neenah.

Edward F. Wolf, 52, 3286 Shorewood Dr., Oshkosh, pleaded innocent of drunken driving, hit and run driving and driving on the wrong side of the road. Judge Cane set trial for March 3 and bond at $250.

County police arrested Wolf on Highway 45 in the Town of Black Wolf at 11:20 p.m. Sunday. Wolf collided with a car driven by John Behringer, 22, Milwaukee.

said 40 per cent of the cases she has had contact with during the past six to seven months "had to do with too much money spent on drinking."

In the past we have mainly been treating the symptom, giving first aid in a sense, Fred Kepflich, clinical social worker said. Alcoholism is very baffling in the sense that the question of whether it is a symptom or an illness, he explained.

Positive Approach
"The most advanced, effective treatment we have for alcoholism is Alcoholics Anonymous," Dr. George Arndt, psychiatrist, said. The organization is "probably the most positive approach we have."

One of the biggest steps in treatment is for the person to realize alcohol "is his problem and that he wants to do something about it," Dr. Arndt said.

In a discussion of teen-age drinking, panel members agreed that a good family relationship and constructive outlets for energy are basic answers to the problem.

By some quirk, this batch of clothing was in the only part of the store that had not been touched. The rest of the office was dripping with water.

The First Significant Snowfall of the season Saturday also led to the season's first significant snowmen, which appeared within hours on many Fox Cities lawns. One of the biggest was made on N. Superior Street by this group of neighbors. From left are John Yonan II, Debbie Schampers, John Yonan III and Mary Schuldes.

Community Hospital Fund Drive Still Growing

KAUKAUNA — Although the drive for funds for the new wing of the Kaukauna Community Hospital has officially ended as the $225,000 goal has been reached, funds continue to arrive at the hospital.

Money collected above what was anticipated will be used for construction and a corresponding amount will be deducted from hospital reserve funds which were earmarked to help finance the wing.

Larger donations received during the past week included $250 from Riverside Paper Corporation Foundation, Appleton, and $200 from the women of the Calumet County Farm Bureau. Smaller donations accounted for the balance of the $545 added to the campaign in the past week.

Some of this amount was raised by nurses and hospital personnel who placed a container on the counter of the second floor at the hospital. Donations still can be made to members of the finance committee or by mailing contributions to Mrs. Berenice Elliott, hospital administrator.

DA Named Official

OSHKOSH — Dist. Atty. Jack Steinhilber was elected fourth vice president of the Wisconsin District Attorneys Association at its convention in Milwaukee.

YGOP Backs Un-American Activities Body

Blue Ribbon Tax Group's Findings Also Supported

OSHKOSH — Resolutions supporting the House-Un-American Activities Committee and asking Gov. Gaylord Nelson to support the findings of his "Blue Ribbon" Tax Committee were approved by the Wisconsin Young Republican executive committee.

These resolutions, approved at the Sunday meeting at Alex's Town House, will be presented to the statewide YGOP convention at Waukesha May 5-7.

The resolution on the Un-American Activities Committee calls the committee "vital" to the security of the nation "to provide an alert and effective check on Communist subversion and sedition."

The tax study resolution calls upon Gov. Nelson to honor his "let-the-chips-fall-where-they-may" campaign commitment and to support his own tax committee recommendations.

A third resolution condemns "the cynical disregard of our nation's economic health for political considerations" and opposes "so-called pump-priming and grandstanding proposals of utter economic nonsense, designed to tighten further the yoke of federal bureaucracy around the necks of the American people and (which) perpetuates the political power of the Democratic party."

A fourth resolution charges the Democrats with attempting to introduce "the alien system of political kickbacks."

Fond du Lac Man Wins Toastmaster Contest, Trophy

A Fond du Lac man was named winner of the area Toastmasters Club competition at Fond du Lac Saturday and won the area traveling trophy held by the Appleton club for the last three years.

Gerald G. Mielke won first place in the contest, and Dr. Stanton Charlton, Neenah delegate, was second. Wayne Nunenkamp was

Mrs. Rathbone to Stay On Fish Creek Scene

STURGEON BAY — Although founder Mrs. Caroline Fisher Rathbone has lost material possession of her beloved Theater in A Garden, she remains very much on the scene. That is the assurance of the new owner, Kenneth Carroad, New York City tax attorney.

A Carroad gained possession of the famed Door County summer theater Saturday morning in a sheriff's auction with a top bid of $38,000.

The sale was held to satisfy a mortgage against the summer theater held by the bank of Sturgeon Bay. The mortgage and costs totaled $28,287.10.

Emphasizing his plans to continue the theater, Carroad said, "We plan to divorce the financial management from the theatrical and employ a top quality group of people who will conduct the operation to the benefit of the community."

Other Interests
Calling Mrs. Rathbone's ability in the theater arts "remarkable," Carroad asserted she would be very much a part of the theatrical section of the new operation.

Carroad disclosed that he and Mrs. Carroad became interested in the theater through Mrs. Rathbone, whom they knew when she was in New York City. "Subsequently other interests in New York and Chicago were attracted to the possibilities of the Door County summer theater, making the purchase possible," he said.

Along with the Chicago and New York backing, Carroad hopes to raise money in Wisconsin.

"With the proper backing, we will form a corporation and perhaps one day set up a foundation," the new owner observed.

Bidding Duel
The auction conducted by Door County Sheriff Marvin Zwicky at the courthouse here provided top drama for about fifty spectators.

A tense duel developed between Thorvald Toft, Sturgeon Bay at the Appleton delegate to the competition and Leo Murphy was alternate.

Mielke will represent the area in the spring district competition.

Located in Fish Creek, Door County's only summer theater was founded 27 years ago by Mrs. Rathbone and her brother. Mrs. Rathbone has been sole manager since World War II.

Dog Owners Warned To Keep Pets Tied

Neenah—Mayor Chester S. Bell today issued a warning to dog owners not to allow their pets to run loose in the city.

The mayor said he was concerned over the number of complaints he has received. He reminded the people the city has an ordinance against permitting dogs to run loose at any time during the year.

Antitrust Violators Face Uncertain Future

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Executives from top to bottom of the corporate ladder can reap praise today the relation of man to company in the wake of what happened here to the electric equipment industry.

What happened was: The roof fell in.

As a result of guilty or no contest pleas to antitrust conspiracy charges 29 companies must pay fines totalling $1.78 million and 44 of their executives must pay fines totalling $137,500. Jail sentences were meted out to 31, with 24 put on five years probation and 7 others ordered to jail for 30 days starting Monday.

Have Left Jobs
All concerned are pondering what their corporate future is—some already have left their jobs. In countless other industries management men, big and little, are on notice they must be as above approach as Caesar's wife in avoiding involvement in price fixing or bid rigging. Many junior executives may wonder how far their superior will go in backing them up—may even question some practices or policies as dangerous to themselves.

The first individuals sentenced to jail looked unbelieving. Later one looked crushed or startled that they could be sentenced for doing their job as they had interpreted it.

Some openly showed resentment that they were being punished while "superiors weren't even indicted."

Contrasting Pleas

The relation of man to company in following practices deemed to aid the firms concerned varied widely among the corporations involved. Attorneys for companies and those for individuals made contrasting pleas in asking Judge J. Cullen Ganey of U. S. Dist. Court here for leniency.

Some company attorneys said their top men were unaware of the widespread price fixing and bid rigging in an industry with $2 billion a year sales. Some of their men showed active resentment of salary cuts and demotions since they were indicted last spring and insisted they were carrying out orders of their immediate superiors or instructions of their predecessors on the job. Some of the individuals accepted the court punishment as they had accepted their company role—doing what seemed expected. They gave no indication in court of questioning the practice they held was needed to bring stability to a once highly competitive industry.

Part of Job

Others pleaded through their attorneys that they had first opposed the idea of price fixing, banned by antitrust laws, but found they had to go along as part of their jobs. To these the judge mostly turned a deaf ear, saying they used substantial salaries to balm their conscience.

But usually he suspended jail sentences and put them on five year probation.

Many of the defendants were at or near retirement age. The fines will bear down hard. So will loss of status in company and community.

Others were in middle age, a few were young and low in rank. Some of their employers say company discipline won't be added to what the court imposed. Other companies have demoted the individuals involved. In both cases the future company road for these men may be rocky. Those who have struck out for new jobs may face difficulties, too.

Osteoporosis Sufferers Advised to Stop Worrying

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
"Dear Dr. Molner: Can you tell me something about osteoporosis?"
—Mrs. C.M.C."

Dr. Molner

—well, let's start another way. We think of our bones as being hard and inert. This is far from true. Bones, like any other part of the body, can undergo changes.

We likewise think of bones as being "made of calcium." They contain calcium, but they also contain an inner substance made up of protein, and between that and the hard outer surface is fat or marrow.

Healthy bones depend on many factors, the chief ones being good nutrition, use of the bones (exercise) and certain glandular factors.

Thinning of Bone

Osteoporosis is a thinning of the hard, "bony part" of the bone. There are several causes. One is disuse. Prolonged bed rest or being in a cast for a long time can cause this thinning or softening.

Malnutrition can do the same thing. So can lack of Vitamin C (in this case it is called scurvy) or an excessive intake of Vitamins A and D.

Lack of hormones from the ovaries is a quite common cause in women after menopause. Usually such cases take about 10 years to develop.

Symptoms of osteoporosis include such things as back pain or back ache at night, a tendency toward poor posture and stooping or round-shouldered appearance, tenderness in the bones, and, of course, bones breaking under circumstances which should cause only relatively slight injury.

Not Cancerous

Such fractures are, in fact, the most serious consequence of osteoporosis. To put at rest somefeared have been expressed, osteoporosis is NOT cancerous in nature.

Indeed, since the condition can vary from very mild to rather severe, I most certainly would urge sufferers not to worry needlessly. In a severe case, your doctor will warn you to be careful of bumps, falls, undue strain on bones, etc.

In the many mild cases it is necessary to strengthen the bones and to not worry about things. Treatment consists essentially of replacement of hormones in the system, a diet rich in Vitamin C (citrus fruit and juices and Vitamin C tablets if required) and exercise.

The exercise needn't be strenuous calisthenics. Walking is an excellent form of exercise for this trouble. Simple pain-killers such as aspirin will help the aches. Remember this: Osteoporosis doesn't come on suddenly and, by the same token, improvement is slow. Don't expect rapid correction. Rely on slow but persistent treatment as outlined above.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What is sodium benzoate and is it harmful?" I've seen it marked on labels of some foods and juices I buy. I saw in a paper that someone had "sodium poisoning."—Mrs. H. W.

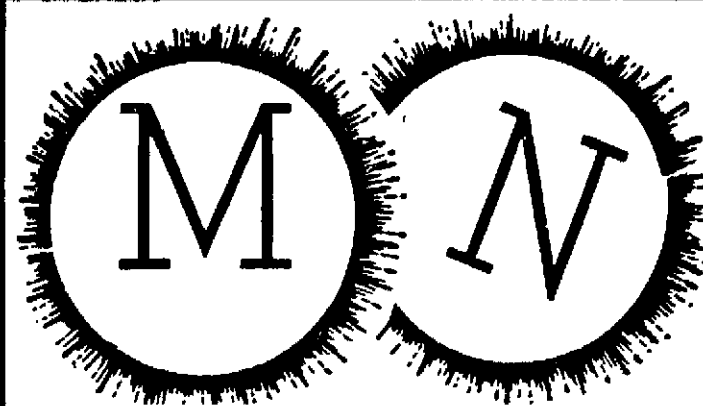

Sodium benzoate is a preservative and is not harmful. Only traces of it are used in foods anyway. As to "sodium poisoning," put it out of your mind. Common table salt is sodium chloride, baking soda is sodium bicarbonate and so on. Sodium is a very common substance in nature.

Note to Mr. H. K.: No, a cataract has no connection with any trouble in the retina, any more than dandruff has anything to do with corns.

"Don't Quit Because Of Arthritis" is" is the title of my leaflet designed to help all who suffer the aches and pains of arthritis. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of handling.

GREEN BAY—A young divorcee and mother of four was fatally shot at a suburban Allouez home early today.

Dead is Bonnie Sterling, 26, Green Bay, who was reported to have lived in Rochester, N.Y., recently. Her car has New York state license plates. In identifying her, authorities pointed out that Sterling is her maiden name although she had been married twice and was divorced twice.

The sheriff and district attorneys office investigating the death said that the single shot in the chest which killed her may have self-inflicted.

Undersheriff Milton Long said authorities were "inclined to accept" her 21-year-old host's story that she killed herself.

Long and Brown County Sheriff Bill Swanson said the woman had visited a number of taverns Sunday night with a party, then had gone to an Allouez apartment.

Swanson said that county officers and State Crime Laboratory technicians were continuing their investigations.

The death was reported to authorities about 12:50 a.m. by Merrill Clough, 21, 1236 S. Roosevelt St., in northern Allouez. The shooting occurred at his home Clough was being held for questioning, but no charge has been placed against him.

Single Shot
The Sterling woman died from a single shot fired at her chest. The death weapon was reported to be a Derringer pistol taken from a special gun case.

The shooting took place in young Clough's first-floor bedroom.

Police said that the two had been arguing. They were alone in the downstairs flat when the fatal gunshot was fired. The woman's jewelry was found strewn about and her shoes were in the kitchen.

Authorities were told that the shooting happened after Miss Sterling and Clough had returned to the Clough residence. They were said to have spent the evening with Clough's mother, Mrs. Leila Clough of the same address, and Clough's sister and her boyfriend at a tavern on Green Bay's south side.

Senator Says Country Not Facing Dark Hour

Hruska Denies Existence of Missile Gap In Talk to Winnebago County GOP

OSHKOSH—Taking issue with days of trust formations and the Pres. Kennedy's statement that America is facing its darkest hour and approaching the hour of maximum danger, Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska told the Winnebago County Republican Party Saturday night that Lincoln and Eisenhower faced truly dark hours and moved the country forward.

Sen. Hruska charged that there was no missile gap and never was one at the annual Lincoln Day dinner at the Hotel Athearn.

He cited Pres. Kennedy's campaign speeches which said the United States was behind and in second place in missiles and pointed to the Pentagon announcement several days ago that there was no lag. One magazine article this week states the United States is ahead, he said.

Not a Rubber Stamp
The Nebraska senator charged that from 1945 to 1952 under Truman not one cent was spent toward missiles and satellites. He said it was remarkable that, inside of the first 10 days that Kennedy was in office, so much could be accomplished in the field of missiles, such as the successful ride of "Ham the Chimp," launching of the seventh Polaris type submarine and the firing of a satellite which can photograph Russia better than the U-2, "whether Khrushchev likes it or not."

"Maybe we should have asked like to step aside for this young man last July," Sen. Hruska joked.

The Republicans in Congress will not be a rubber stamp but will be a party of loyal and constructive opposition. It will support measures of its opponents wherein it finds agreement that the best interests of the country are served, he stated.

"The Republican party will not support measures that are threats to or violations of freedoms and liberties, not because such action would be against the administration but because such measures are wrong. The Nebraska senator listed such measures as federal aid to education, medical care for the aged through social security and urban renewal, stating, "Our opposition to them will be honest and constructive opposition."

Opposes Power Concentration
He claimed the Republican party was founded in Lincoln's day because of a concern for human liberties and freedom, at that time slavery. It has opposed concentration of power in any one group including the slave owners in Lincoln's day. Big business during the

Olympic Swim Star to Make Documentary

Greta Anderson May Follow in Footsteps Of Esther Williams

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie writer
HONOLULU (AP) — Following the film wakes of Johnny Weissmuller and Esther Williams is a bright-eyed Amazon named Greta Anderson.
Greta is the human propeller who has conquered just about every long-distance swim normally navigated, including a two-way stretch in the Catalina Channel. She is here to defeat the Molokai Channel, 26 miles of tortuous currents. Her first try failed Jan. 28. Next time—watch out!

She is also getting in the movie swim with an hour and a half documentary about the feat. It is being filmed by a crew headed by Jerry Courneya, veteran producer of travel and sports films, including a series with Errol Flynn.

Channel Swim

Courneya is enthused about the film's possibilities.

"We'll make the Molokai Channel the heavy," he says. "We'll show all the preparations for the swim—Greta's fear of sharks and all that. We'll build up suspense and the swim will be the climax of the picture."

How does Greta feel about all this? She's an easy-going (on land) Dane who seems willing to try anything.

"I've never done any acting," she admitted. "But that's going to be easy. It's the swimming that's difficult."

100-Meter Champion

Greta is 31, 5 feet 7½ and a muscular 140 pounds, though she dropped 17 on the Molokai try. When she isn't in the water, she lives in Long Beach, Calif., with her husband, swim coach John Sonnenich. They run a swim school and she lectures with a film of her achievements.

Greta is the 1948 100-meter Olympic champion who came to America from her native Denmark in 1953. She tried teaching swimming, but found it boring. In 1956, she entered a swim at Atlantic City, won $4,000 and found a new career. She won the English Channel race in 1957 and 1958, another record.

Detective Sterling Mossman Has Strange Double Career in Honolulu

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV writer
HONOLULU (AP) — Police detective by day, night club star by night—that's the strange double life of Sterling Mossman.

This may sound like something out of a TV series, but it's for real. Mossman is a husky six-footer whose easy charm has made him the hottest name on the Waikiki entertainment scene. But the Mossman charm can be supplanted by toughness, as many a police candidate to start at the size of coaters.

The lights dimmed. Playing on the bandstand was a combo of just a few weeks before Pearl Harbor. After military service, he and three Hawaiian men and one wacky Waikiki girl. They were returned to the police department, joined by Mossman, good-looking, thirtyish with a deceptively dignified manner. He played guitar, sang, told a hilarious history of Hawaii and clowned for an hour and a half to the delight of the audience.

Afterwards, he sat down and talked about his two careers.

Long Time at Both

"I've been entertaining since I was 5 years old," related Mossman, an island boy who is Scottish-Irish-German-Hawaiian. "But I've only been doing it professionally since seven or eight years ago. I started by playing at parties and luaus. Then I moved into clubs."

Mossman works nightly at the Barefoot Bar of the Queen's Surf. I dropped out to catch his act. "The police work began 20 years ago. I was working on the docks as a shipping clerk at $130 a month. I read a notice asking for police candidates to start at $150 a month. That sounded good to me."

He joined the Honolulu force three weeks before Pearl Harbor. After military service, he and three Hawaiian men and one wacky Waikiki girl. They were returned to the police department,

Actress Martha Hyer Likes Foreign Wines, but Prefers American Men

BY BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Men, do you feel run-down, neglected, unappreciated? If so, try this refreshing tonic from Martha Hyer, Hong Kong to Paris.

Notice she says domestic, not domesticated. In other words, she prefers American men.

"American men are the best in the world, as far as their treatment of women is concerned," she said. "The proof of it is that wherever our GI go — England, Germany, Japan — the women flock to them. Why is this? It's not merely because the GI have money. It's because the women in those countries realize that they get better treatment from Americans than from their own countrymen."

Martha speaks not from idle patriotism. She has done active research on this matter, having traveled and made films in Asia, a patriot.

Europe, Africa and South America. During the past year, she starred in "Mistress of the World" for a German company. It was filmed on location from Hong Kong to Paris.

Her Opinion

Being a bachelor girl, she had plenty of dates abroad and gives this capsule commentary on her escorts:

English—charming but dull. French—self-centered. Italian—wolfish. German — stolid, one-track-minded. "Where are the Continental manners we used to hear about?" asked Martha. "I don't mean that men should be courtly. Personally, I think a lot of the old customs are silly."

"What I'm interested in is not the minor courtesies, but the man's attitude toward a woman. A European cares little about her traveled and made films in Asia, a patriot.

He listens to her and gives her credit for having some opinions of her own.

Sense of Humor

"Perhaps the most important factor in a man is a sense of humor. That's where Americans excel. They can laugh at themselves. European men cannot."

So much for one part of Martha's thesis. What about the other? "Yes, I still prefer foreign wines," she said. "But strangely enough, many Europeans are now saying that California wines are superior. Our wines are getting the same snob appeal there, that theirs have here."

'Porgy and Bess' Film Withdrawn From South

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Sam Goldwyn has withdrawn his movie "Porgy and Bess" from the South because of racial tension.

"I just don't want to be responsible for any race riots," the producer said. "It's a very unfortunate situation."

"The picture is doing very well elsewhere in the world, where people don't have these (racial) troubles."

He said the film — based on about Negro life in the South — has touched off racial incidents in several areas.

Saturday's Results:
St. Mary 49, Marinette Cath. 40.
Springs 54, Oshkosh Lourdes 50 (non-conference).

Playing one of the best games of his high school career, Bob Rueckl led the St. Mary Zephyrs to a 49-40 victory over Catholic Central at Marinette Saturday night.

Rueckl tallied 16 points and his value on defense was also great. It was his rebounding along with that of Jim Koerner and Gus Laemmrich and the hustling of Bill Becker and Tony Rechner that made the tight Zephyr zone defense click.

The win kept the Zephyrs on top of the Fox Valley Catholic Conference. They have won eight straight league games this season and stretched their overall FVC win streak to 30.

St. Mary grabbed a 6-0 lead to open the contest, scoring on baskets by Rueckl, Rechner, and Laemmrich. Marinette fought back to close the gap to 8-5 but the Zephyrs were off again scoring five successive buckets for an 18-5 lead.

The Cavaliers pulled to within eight points in the second quarter, but St. Mary steadily increased its lead and, with the last two baskets of the first half, had a 31-17 halftime lead.

Rueckl led off the third period with a basket and moments later Koerner's bucket gave the Zephyrs their biggest lead of the game, 45-27.

Marinette took a turn at the firing line and outscored St. Mary, 11-1, during a hot streak. The outburst closed the gap to nine points, at 47-38, with better than two minutes to go.

The Zephyrs went into a stall for much of the final portion of the game with both teams trading baskets.

It was the 14th win of the season for the Zephyrs whose next action will be against Waukesha Memorial, in the Menasha High School gym, Saturday night.

Fox Lutheran Wins, 63-37, Over Bethany

Scores 43 Points in Second Half To Square Record

Leading, just 20-18, at the half, Fox Valley Lutheran's Foxes went into a press and came up with a 63-37 victory over Bethany's preps Saturday in New Ulm, Minn.

The victory evened the Foxes' season record — exclusive of the alumni game — at 9-9. Bethany is now 1-14. Fox Lutheran's next start is against visiting Xavier Thursday.

Ten FVL players scored Saturday with eight of them counting four points or more. Dennis Dobberstein led the way with 12 while Stuart Boese tallied 10. Ted Theiste counted 14 for Bethany honors.

Fox Lutheran led, 11-9, at the quarter rest and maintained the two-point margin at the half. The Foxes' regulars — who played the first and third quarters — outscored Bethany, 20-12, in the third stanza for a 40-30 lead. FVL reserves blasted the game wide open in the fourth segment.

The visitors shot 32 per cent from the floor and 52 per cent at the foul line (13 for 25). The hosts made 13 of 21 free throws.

Mickey Wright Marks Birthday With Golf Win

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Mickey Wright, the tall power hitter of women's golf, celebrated her birthday two days early this year. The biggest present was a $1,247 check.

The 25-year-old professional has been tabbed by many as potentially the best woman golfer ever to swing a club. She came close to realizing that potential with a five-under men's par performance for 72 holes in winning the St. Petersburg open by four strokes Sunday.

The 5-foot-9 blonde from San Diego, Calif., turned in a card of 72-70-67-70—279.

Her first St. Petersburg title came over Louise Suggs of Atlanta, who finished with a 73 Sunday after three consecutive rounds of 70.

28 Sturgeon Taken on Opening Weekend; Results Called Poor

By JAY REED
Post-Crescent Outdoors Editor

OSHKOSH — Twenty-eight sturgeon were taken during the opening weekend of the 1961 spearing season and Conservation Department fish specialists here assessed the proceedings as "poor."

Cloudy water conditions which permitted spearmen good vision only up to ten feet was the major reason for the small kill but Gordon Priegel, research biologist in charge of the Winnebago sturgeon management program, said it was apparent the huge fish were just not moving.

The biggest sturgeon registered was an 84-pounder taken by Richard Freitag, Montello.

Donna Gerhardt, of Neenah, was one of the first to spear a sturgeon, registering a 24-pounder at mate of the number of sturgeon fishermen out over the weekend.

"There were so many pike fishermen mixed in with the spearmen," Priegel said, "that you couldn't tell who was doing what."

Poor weather conditions on Sunday prevented the department from making an air survey of the lake.

Last year's spearing season opened on a Thursday with resulting lighter pressure than a weekend opening would bring. During the first four days of that season 101 sturgeon were registered.

Most spearmen were breaking the monotony of waiting for a sturgeon by "jigging" for walleyes. While most of the spearmen were waiting for a sturgeon, they were also catching walleyes.

Jerry Lucas' Big Ten scoring record and Iowa's surprising victory over Indiana serve as a glittering backdrop for this sixth week of the conference basketball campaign.

The top-rated Ohio State Buckeyes, smashing Michigan State 83-68 behind Lucas' record 48-point production, will greet Northwestern (3-5) at home tonight on the crest of a 23-game winning streak.

Invade Iowa

The Buckeyes invade second-place Iowa (5-1) Saturday in what should be a feature attraction in their drive for a second straight Big Ten crown.

Despite the academic loss of four regulars, Iowa whipped Indiana on the Hoosiers' floor 74-67 in what Hawkeye coach Sharm Scheuerman described as "the greatest example of team desire I ever saw."

Lucas, who hit 26 of his points in the last half after scrappy MSU took a 39-38 lead, explained: "I'm usually not that hot — some nights you have it and some you don't. Guess it was my night."

His 48 points topped the record of 47 set by Indiana's Don Schlundt in 1954 and again in 1955, both times against the Buckeyes. His 19 field goals (out of 26 shots) tied the Big Ten basket-making mark set by Iowa's Dick Ives against Chicago in 1944.

Ohio State's 23-game victory string, stretching back to last season, is only six short of the all-time Big Ten record of 29 by Minnesota in 1901-1904 and Wisconsin in 1912-1913.

Other Games

In other games tonight, Indiana (3-3) is at Purdue (6-2), Wisconsin (1-5) at Iowa and Michigan State (1-7) at Michigan (0-6).

The Hoosiers' Walt Bellamy was strapped with only four baskets in the patched-up Hawkeyes triumph. Mat Szykowny, Iowa's sophomore football quarterback, capped a 19-point performance with two baskets and four straight free throws to push his team ahead of rallying Indiana 72-66 in the final minutes.

Terry Dischinger's 38 points and 18 rebounds guided Purdue over Illinois 89-73. He managed to stay barely ahead of Lucas in the individual scoring race, averaging 27.8 to the Buckeye all-American's 27.7. Illini sophomore Dave Downey poured in 29 points.

Minnesota broke from a 32-32 halftime stalemate to surge over Michigan 70-53.

Lamers Hits 15 Despite Broken Nose

Jack Lamers, sophomore forward from Kimberly, scored 15 points in Saturday's Michigan State loss to Ohio State, although he broke his nose early in the game.

The Spartans' Lamers, who had sustained a dislocated shoulder earlier in the season, played the entire 40 minutes in his club's 83-68 loss to the unbeaten Buckeyes.

Ohio State's Jerry Lucas (11) is shown scoring one of the baskets he made enroute to a Big Ten single-game point record of 48 against Michigan State Saturday. Lucas and his mates face Northwestern tonight.

Changes Planned by Erickson For Tonight's Game at Iowa

Coach Miffed Over 54-52 Loss To Wildcats

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — "If you can't shoot any better than you belong in some other league."

That was a highly miffed Coach John Erickson talking of his hapless Wisconsin basketball team after the Badgers lost 54-52 to Northwestern Saturday.

Guard Bill Cacciatore sank a basket with six seconds to go, giving the Wildcats the victory in the regionally televised Big Ten game.

The defeat was the fifth in a row for the Badgers in conference play and their sixth in a row in a five-week period.

"You can't play Big Ten basketball and shoot 29.9 per cent and if you only shoot 29.9 per cent you belong in 10th place," Erickson said in the dressing room afterward.

Erickson said he planned some changes for the Iowa game at Iowa City tonight and that sophomore Ron Jackson probably would be a starter.

Referring again to Wisconsin's 29.9 per cent shooting average, Erickson said the squad was lucky to be in the ball game against Northwestern.

"We were in it because of tremendous rebounding, because of Sunday's Results Boston 136, Philadelphia 125. Syracuse 148, Detroit 122. Cincinnati 163, New York 104. Los Angeles 105, St. Louis 93.

Tonight's Schedule Los Angeles vs. Cincinnati at Dayton.

BOSTON (AP) — The fabled Boston bench—one of the chief reasons the Celtics have dominated the National Basketball Association in recent years—soon may be playing as much or more than the regulars.

One reason: Bob Cousy has had it.

"I'm beat," the weary Celtic captain said after Boston's 136-125 triumph over Philadelphia Sunday.

"I've never felt like this—physically and mentally—before. Nevertheless, the perennial all-star guard emphasized.

Not Well Physically "I guess it's a combination of things. I haven't been well physically. Then there's all this travel. And we broke the race open too soon.

"I can't get up for a game when it doesn't mean much. I have to have something to shoot for," he said.

Perhaps, Cousy said, things may be different in the playoffs, but he questioned his value for the rest of the season.

Bill Sharman, Cousy's 34-year-old partner in the backcourt, took a different tack.

Not Playing Much "What can you do in 20 minutes?" he asked. "I don't want to say anything against anyone, but I'm not playing as much as I used to. I've always thought you play better after you get your second wind. How are you going to score much in 20 minutes?"

Coach Red Auerbach, advised of the comment of his veterans, made a vague motion of dismissal.

"Aw," he shrugged. "No comment. Look, we won. That's what I care about. We won."

And it was his bench—swift Sam Jones in particular—that had a big hand in fashioning the Celtics' fifth victory in nine meetings with the Warriors.

Leads Rally Jones, who has keyed the four previous victories over Philadelphia, came off the bench to lead a second period rally that broke the game open.

He scored 15 points in the second quarter and assisted on four other baskets as Boston overcame a 36-28 deficit and soared to a 66-56 halftime lead that stood up the rest of the way.

The victory broke a three-game Celtic losing string and gave them a 6½ game Eastern Division bulge over Philadelphia. And, with Los Angeles' 105-95 television victory over St. Louis, it gave Boston a three-game edge in the loss column in the race with the Hawks for the best won-lost record.

Syracuse punished Detroit 148-122 and Cincinnati edged New York 105-104 in other games.

Canadians Cop Three of Four Skating Titles

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— U. S. figure skating patrons found little comfort in the past weekend's North American championships as Canadians skated off with three of the four titles at stake.

The truth is that Uncle Sam has one skater who may develop into a medal winner at the 1964 Olympics — 16-year-old Laurence Owen of Winchester, Mass.

Miss Owen was the only U. S. winner in the North American, a biennial competition with Canada. Her margin over Canadian champion Wendry Griner in the women's singles was as thin as this ice. Like the Olympic games, there is no official team winner in the North American meet.

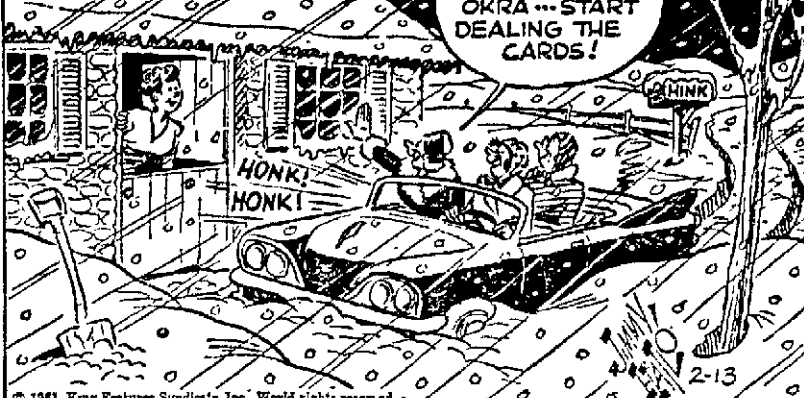

Winners were Donald Jackson of Oshawa, Ontario, in the men's singles, and eth Canadian dance team of Virginia Thompson and William McLachlin, both of Toronto, and pairs team Maria and Otto Jelinek.

Logan Anxious to Get Early Start on Spring Training

MILWAUKEE (AP)— Shortstop Johnny Logan of the Milwaukee Braves says he'll be on his way to Florida this week for an early start on spring training for the 1961 baseball season.

"I might leave Tuesday, or if I can't get away by then, on Thursday," Logan said Sunday.

"And I'll be working until the regular drills open up next month."

Logan, a veteran, has a battle ahead to hold onto the position. His main competition will be in the form of Roy McMillan, who came to the Braves in a deal with Cincinnati. However, he claims the arrival of McMillan has nothing to do with his hastened program of getting in shape.

Had Bad Year "I had a bad year in 1960," Logan said, "and an early start should help me come back strong this year."

Logan said he will work out privately at Anna Maria Beach, a hamlet near Milwaukee's spring training headquarters at Bradenton, Fla.

"I'll be running on the beach to get my legs in shape and work for a general tune-up," Logan said. "This is the first time in my career that I've signed a contract so soon and I want to get an early start."

Logan said he well remembers a mediocre performance in 1958 and a strong comeback in 1959. "Putting this against 1960, I hope history repeats itself," he said.

In 1960, Logan appeared in 136 games with 481 trips to the plate. He hit seven homers, batted in 42 runs and had an average of .243 on 117 hits. Logan finished with a .226 in 1959 but in 1959 finished with .291 after hitting at .300 or better during the first half of the campaign. He was benched by an ankle infection late in the year.

McMillan was obtained by Milwaukee in exchange for pitchers Joey Jay and Juan Pizarro. In 1960 he finished with a .236 average for 124 games in which he had 12 doubles, 2 triples, 6 homers and batted in 42 runs.

Palmer, Sanders Duel in Playoff

Doug Ties for Phoenix Honors With Torrid 8-Under-Par Finish

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Arnold Palmer and a man who infringed his patent on incredible finishes, Doug Sanders, met today in a golf match that seemingly couldn't be an 18 hole playoff for the Phoenix Open championship.

The winner gets $4,300, the loser $3,000, and each takes a fourth of the day's gate receipts. Sanders was eight big strokes behind the front-running Palmer Sunday at the start of what was scheduled as the final round.

Course Record He proceeded to slash eight strokes off par to set an Arizona Country Club course record of 62, while Palmer had to scramble for an even par 70. They pulled into the 72-hole mark deadlocked at 270, 10 under par for the distance.

Sanders, 27-year-old advocate of the short backswing, was the picture of perfection as he drove out of the fairway only once; hit every green in regulation and rang up a card of 10 pars and eight birdies.

Palmer also parred his holes, but his four birdies were offset by an equal number of bogeys in his worst round of the tournament.

Unplayable Lie At that the muscular Miamian would have won it had it not been for an unplayable lie on the 16th hole. Purposely shooting down the left side for the most desirable approach to the green, the top money winner of 1960 hooked his drive into an oleander bush.

After dropping out with a one-stroke penalty, Palmer took a bogey 5 on the 339-yard hole.

Sanders, playing out of Ojai, Calif., came within an inch and a half of getting a victory-sealing eagle on the par-5 18th hole when his 45-foot putt stopped in front of the cup.

Palmer came into the 18th needing a birdie 4 to tie. His second shot was in the fringe at the left of the green, 50 feet from the pin. He ran the ball up with his putter but hit too strongly and rolled eight feet past. The great pressure player got down from there for his birdie.

Jack Fleck, who won the Phoenix Open last year in a playoff with Bill Collins, finished one back at 271 for third money of $2,000.

Don January was fourth at 273 for $1,700. Dave Marr and Johnny Pott tied for fifth with 274, winning $1,450 each. Collins and tournament tenderfoot Jackie Cupit of Longview, Tex., each took $1,250 with 275.

The Fox Valley Extension team went down to a 69-64 defeat at the hands of Racine Saturday evening at Racine.

The Fox Trotters quintet had a 39-33 halftime lead. Art Rupright was forced to sit out much of the second half because of fouls.

Rupright, who had been controlling the boards during the first half, picked up his fourth foul early in the second half. When he returned to the game, a fifth whistle sent him to the bench almost immediately.

Racine used a 4-man zone defense with one man on Jim Rueckl throughout the contest.

Whitney Reed, Dick Savitt Gain Net Finals

Californian Wants To Get Berth on Davis Cup Team

NEW YORK (AP) — If Uncle Sam is looking for talent to help fill its bare Davis Cup cupboard, Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., is available—beer diet and late nights notwithstanding.

"If they're interested in me, I'm interested in making the team," the fun-loving Westerner said as he readied himself for his title match against Dick Savitt of New York today in the National Indoor championships at the Seventh Regiment Armory.

In answer to a point-blank question Reed said, certainly he believed he was a better tennis player than either Chuck McKinley or Dennis Ralston and he hoped to prove it with his first serious overseas campaign.

Caribbean Circuit

"I'm 28 and I figure this is my last shot," he said. "From here, I'll go to Mexico City to play on the Caribbean circuit and then I HOPE TO GO TO Europe for Wimbledon and the tournaments leading up to it."

"I've never played at Wimbledon, and I'm making this my big year."

Reed gained the indoor final by beating upsetter John Cranston, the Marine from San Marino, Calif., 13-11, 6-3, 6-2. Savitt, finalist for the fourth straight year and winner in 1958, advanced with a 9-7, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4 victory over 21-year-old Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Calif.

Reed is a pleasant, blond-haired young man who acknowledges that he never has let tennis interfere with his pleasure. He likes the social whirl.

Reminded that some people were comparing him with former national champion Art Larsen, who used to train on beer and hot dogs, Reed said: "Well, I don't know about the hot dogs."

The colorful Californian, a former student at San Jose State, said he never followed the practice of other players in keeping in shape by doing road work and taking other exercises.

"I have trouble getting up in time to get to the courts on schedule," he confessed.

Eugenio Monti Wins Fifth Bobsled Title

LAKE PLACID, N. Y. (AP)—Hardly pausing to look back on a superb performance in getting his fifth straight 2-man world bobsled championship, Italy's Eugenio Monti today began preparing to defend the world 4-man crown next weekend.

Monti drove his sled like a wayward comet Sunday and shattered all two-man speed records on the mile, Mt. Van Hovenberg run. His 4-heat time of 4 minutes 42.67 seconds smashed Stan Benham's old mark of 4:42.83 set almost four years ago.

The topper was an almost fantastic 1:09.22 ride over the final heat that crushed the hopes of a young American Marine, 24-year old Gary Sheffield, whose 24-second ride with Benham Sheffield surprised the European-dominated contingent by finishing second with a time of 4:45.74. He, too, buzzed down the mile in the final heat in superlative time, 1:10.41.

'61 Sturgeon Season Off To Slow Start

did not get a sturgeon, many of them finished the day with a limit of pike.

The slow opening did not bother some of the veteran sturgeon hunters of this area. Henry Heimbach, of Stockbridge, who invited this reporter into his spearing shanty Saturday, told me most of the good spearing will come later in the season. Heimbach was ready in case a sturgeon came into view but he was passing the time with a "jug rig" for pike.

Heimbach has been spearing sturgeon for 20 years and was successful 17 years in a row. "I missed in 1958 and 1959," he recalled, "But I got another one last year." Heimbach said things would improve later in the season.

"After a few sturgeons are speared, the shacks will start bunching up in those areas where the fish are moving."

We also talked with two Mayville spears, William Luehring and Ralph Matson. They had seen nothing but were hopeful. "This is the first time in two years we've been able to get to our regular spot," Luehring said. "We've taken 'em here before, and we will again this year. I've got a feeling."

Priegel said no tagged fish were among the 28 registered Saturday and Sunday. "There are about 2,500 sturgeon over 40 inches now carrying numbered tags of some type," he said. "Some of them will start showing up soon."

Spears taking a tagged fish will receive a $10 reward for returning the tag at the registration station. To qualify, the spearer must return the tag, allow the registration clerk to cut off the outer fin rays of both pectoral fins and allow the removal of the innards. If the fish is a ripe female, the spearer can keep the eggs, except for a small sample required by the biologist.

All tagged fish must be registered at a station operated by the Conservation Department. These stations are at the Oshkosh area headquarters, Rainbow Beach, Neenah, Fairy Springs, Stockbridge, Brothertown and Calumet Harbor.

Democrats Decry House Committee

Sales Tax Proposal Tabled At Eighth District Meeting

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY—The Eighth District Democratic organization today stood in support of Gov. Gaylord Nelson's criticism of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

District Democrats took this position Saturday at a Hotel Northland caucus in a resolution which describes the House Committee as constantly using "un-democratic and un-American procedures." The resolution was adopted on a unanimous voice vote with about 75 of the 90 persons who attended the caucus in the room for the vote.

In something of a precedent for Democratic affairs, the caucus also turned aside without a vote a resolution against a sales tax "of any type or in any form."

The resolution to back Nelson's condemnation of the Un-American Activities Committee was offered by John Brogan, De Pere. The description of the committee's methods was added in an amendment offered by Robert W. Swanson, Appleton.

Irresponsible Letters
Brogan said Nelson was being subjected to an organized campaign of irresponsible letters written to Wisconsin newspapers. He said similar tactics were used against former Lt. Gov. Philo Nash in the election last fall, when pink sheets quoting an old charge of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy were circulated.

In the Green Bay area, the campaign letters against Nelson was the work of the John Birch Society and the Cardinal Mindszenty group, Brogan charged.

A small John Birch Chapter was discovered in Green Bay last year. It described itself as an action group for right-wing extremist views, and its national leader called former President Eisenhower a Communist. The Cardinal Mindszenty group is described as a non-sectarian study group on Communism.

"This activity has gotten to the point of hysteria. I feel it is imperative that some voice of moderation be raised. I don't want to go through another period of Democrats being equated with Communists," Brogan said.

Viewing the activities against Nelson and Nash, Brogan said he almost believed that McCarthy was among the living.

"Oh no he isn't. I check on that every morning," assured an Appleton delegate.

Nelson's Denunciation
Nelson has said the committee had outlived its usefulness after Rep. Francis Walter, head of the committee, described persons sponsoring a newspaper advertisement.

Sharp Decline In Business Ethics Noted

Attorney General Urges DA's to Increase Control

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Atty. Gen. John Reynolds, claiming that business ethics have been in a sharp decline in the past 15 years, Saturday urged district attorneys to increase their control over "questionable, shady and downright crooked business practices."

Reynolds addressed a closing session of the annual three-day meeting of the Wisconsin District Attorneys' Association.

He told the prosecutors to "give special consideration to the development of a program which will insure decent competitive conditions in your community."

Reynolds said the use of credit, installment buying, mass media and methods of keen competition "have emerged as the chief causes of practices which have become of grave concern to law enforcement officials throughout the nation."

The attorney general offered the resources of his office in investigating consumer frauds.

William Gless of Monroe County was elected president.

Other officers included: John H. Chisholm, Douglas County, secretary - treasurer; James Koenen, Ozaukee County, first vice president; Francis Murphy, Marinette County, second vice president; Walter DallaGrana, Florence County, third vice president; and Jack D. Steinhilber, Winnebago County, fourth vice president.

Col. Williams' headquarters staff consists of Capt. Donovan Oliver of Menasha, information and recruiting officer; Capt. Merland B. Bersch, Oshkosh, administrative officer in charge of personnel and finance; and Capt. Harvey D. Elmer, Fond du Lac, training officer.

Williams' replacement as Oshkosh flight 'A' commander should be announced next week.

Inspector Stops Work on New Menasha Home

MENASHA — Construction work at a new home in the Fourth Ward was halted today on a "stop-work" order issued by City Building Inspector Allen E. Merrill, who acted to clear a drainage ditch.

Merrill said he warned the building contractor to remove foundation dirt from the drainage ditch three times, the latest instance last Wednesday. Then Merrill gave the builder until this morning to clean out the ditch.

Shortly after he posted a copy of the order at the new home, a heating contractor's employee arrived, but was prevented from work.

Merrill said he issued the order to keep the ditch clear in case of a sudden flash flood. The ditch is the main storm water drain channel for the area east of Appleton Road.

French Police Busy

Heads of Narcotics Rings Under Arrest

PARIS (AP) — Police said today they have arrested the leaders of two big narcotics rings operating between France and the United States and Canada.

Police identified the two as Felix Barnier, 43, head of a ring whose American outlet was smashed by U. S. narcotic agents last fall, and Robert Lecoat, 54, a member of the second ring.

The second ring was discovered, police said, by the arrest in New York Oct. 3 of some members of the first ring. This first ring included the Guatemala ambassador to Belgium, Mauricio Rosal. He was convicted in federal court of using his diplomatic immunity to transport heroin from the French ring to the United States.

Barnier, leader of the first ring, was known to French police at the time of the New York arrests. French police said they did not pick him up in the hopes he would lead them to others in the French underworld. At the time Rosal and three accomplices were arrested, American narcotic agents found two packages of heroin in their possession.

One of Rosal's arrested accomplices, Charles Boudonnais, admitted he had carried the second package into the United States from a contact in Montreal. Authorities kept the news of finding this second package a secret.

Boudonnais said he worked as a money man and courier for both the Rosal-Barnier ring and a second French based ring. Neither ring knew of his contact with the other.

Working on information supplied by Boudonnais, police said they traced the second ring back through Montreal to Lecoat.

However, police discovered that Lecoat was a candidate for a gangland killing. Since news of the seizure of the second heroin package had been withheld by police, Lecoat's associates were led to believe that he doublecrossed them and sold the package on his own.

Fearing he would be killed before he could lead them to his bosses, police said they arrested Lecoat today. Their investigation is continuing.

Gary Schroeder, 19, Redgranite, and James Petri, 20, 1220 Pearl Ave., Oshkosh, also were charged in the Feb. 5 case.

Writer Says

Responsibility Of Newsmen More Exacting

Wyngaard Notes Growing Complexity Of Public Affairs

LITTLE CHUTE — The responsibilities of the newspaperman have become more exacting as government has expanded and public services have become more important to the average citizen. A Madison political reporter told the Little Chute Businessmen's Association at its annual meeting last night. John Wyngaard, state capitol correspondent of Appleton Post-Crescent and Green Bay Press-Gazette, asserted that the democratic system relies upon the understanding of the average citizen. The obligations of daily journalism have become more serious with the increasing complexity of public affairs.

Little Chute Native

Wyngaard is a Little Chute native who has worked as a Wisconsin political reporter for many years. The gathering and dissemination of news has become a giant industry in America, he said, but its heart remains the reporter at the scene of the news story. "It is his eyes and ears and intelligence you must rely upon to know what is going on in the world, in Washington, in the state capital, in the county courthouse—everywhere that the government functions," he said.

Sees Tax Hikes

The correspondent described principal issues in the state legislature and said the current session will be dominated by the issue of taxation and finance. The average citizen's tax burden will steadily increase in response to the insistent demand for more governmental services at all levels of administration, he said. The nearly balanced partisan alignment in the state today as a result of the 1960 state elections means that there will be no abrupt or radical departures in basic Wisconsin state government policy this year, he declared.

Muscular Dystrophy Drive Gets $14,883 In Two Counties

Outagamie and Winnebago County muscular dystrophy drives in 1960 brought in $14,883. Muscular Dystrophy Association chapter president Roger La Berge announced today. Donations in Appleton totaled $4,704; Oshkosh, $3,340; Neenah, $1,685; Menasha, $1,312; Kaukauna, $873; Kimberly, $450; Little Chute, $279; Combined Locks, $70; and Hortonville, $19.33. The commerce and industry drive led by Stuart Thompson, Menasha, brought $2,650. After paying $1,300 campaign expenses, the chapter uses 25 per cent of the donations for patient service and 75 per cent for research to find cause and cure for muscular dystrophy, which brings slow crippling and death to its victims.

Neatness, Orderliness Pay Off in Much Higher Grades

BY LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D., with HARRY KARNS

Neatness and orderliness can help you make better grades in arithmetic and mathematics.

Unhappily, many students neglect these simple rules because no one has explained how important they are.

Let's face it. Modern education many times neglects the individual student. This is not necessarily the fault of the schools. It is a consequence of an exploding school-age population and shortages of teachers and classrooms.

Teaching techniques are designed for classes of 35, 40, 50 students. Potentially good students get into bad habits and are not exposed to good habits. Training in neatness is drastically curtailed by punch-card tests made for rapid grading. All tests cannot be of this type, however, and when the student faces new situations, he is in trouble. Good scholarship becomes impossible.

Recently on grade card ray, a father brought his 10-year-old son to us.

Jimmy's card bore a hard and uncomprising 'needs to improve' behind arithmetic. Translated to the less compromising language of 20 years ago, the grade was F — standing for Failure.

The boy seemed bright enough. We decided to experiment. We wrote out some columns of addition, some subtraction and some multiplication. He worked the problems rapidly and faultlessly!

Eleventh of Series

of this type, however, and when the student faces new situations, he is in trouble. Good scholarship becomes impossible.

Recently on grade card ray, a father brought his 10-year-old son to us.

Jimmy's card bore a hard and uncomprising 'needs to improve' behind arithmetic. Translated to the less compromising language of 20 years ago, the grade was F — standing for Failure.

The boy seemed bright enough. We decided to experiment. We wrote out some columns of addition, some subtraction and some multiplication. He worked the problems rapidly and faultlessly!

Slopiness Was Cause

We asked Jimmy to return the next day and bring some of his arithmetic papers with him. He did, and the source of the trouble was immediately apparent — so obvious that you would wonder why the teacher or the parent hadn't seen it.

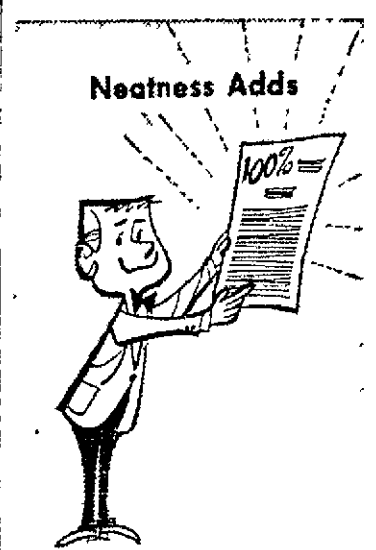

Jimmy, who understood the intricate processes of arithmetic perfectly, had never learned to copy numbers down in straight columns. He had been applying the right principles to the wrong numbers because of a purely physical mistake!

"What does your teacher say about your papers?" we asked. "She says they're wrong."

We're afraid we would have to give that teacher a B—for Blindness. Or maybe that is unfair. Poor lady—perhaps she didn't have the time to say more.

Two Easy Systems

After learning to be neat and orderly, Jimmy started turning out perfect papers in school. We simply cannot stress too strongly the importance of details. A small error, a small omission can destroy completely the effect of a large amount of otherwise flawless work.

You should do these things as a matter of course:

1. Arrange your work neatly on the paper.
2. Use the correct symbols.
3. Make sure that plus and minus signs, equal signs, fraction lines, exponents and other marks are neatly and correctly placed.
4. Make sure that everything

Send for the booklet NOW!

you write on the paper is actually true.

5. Do scratch work on a separate piece of paper so that your mind is not distracted from the actual steps of the problem.

Break Problems Down

As you get into more advanced work, you will find that problems no longer can be solved at a glance. Then you must make use of a special technique. It is based on this fact: Nearly all complex problems in math can be solved piece by piece.

Let's run through the steps that will help you.

1. Write the problem correctly on the paper.
2. Look at the problem.

searching for some small part of it which you know how to simplify.

3. Simplify it.

4. Rewrite the problem with that work shown on it.

5. Now look at the problem again. Is there another little part of the problem you can deal with?

While going through steps one, two and three, mentioned above, it helps to relate one item of information to another. Make them all fit together. Make them mean something to one another. The more diversified, the more complete, you make these associations the easier it will be to remember the data.

Usually there is. This process normally results in the solution of very complicated problems—without a single complicated move on your part.

Simple Process Needed

Superior and gifted students too often are able to solve simple problems without the use of these techniques. They are shocked when their grades suddenly drop from "A's" to "C's" or lower when they reach college - level math courses. Ironically, their brightness is a curse to them until they discover or are shown the simple learning processes which will permit them to do the work of which they are capable.

Millions of boys and girls in public schools and colleges do not know how to solve problems. They are the sad victims of an age that knows how to measure 1/100,000th of an inch but neglects to tell boys and girls how to arrange numbers in a neat and orderly column.

But now you know a secret that can help you avoid the pitfalls which await the careless and unwary.

In the next chapter we are going to tell you some more secrets that will help you on examination day.

(TOMORROW: How to prepare for examinations.)

Man Pleads Guilty of Carrying Illegal Deer

CLINTONVILLE—David Knapp, 20, route 3, Clintonville, pleaded guilty in court Friday before Justice Frank Sinkewicz to a charge of transporting an illegal deer in a closed season. He was fined $50.

He was arrested Thursday by State Conservation Warden Ken Corbett, Clintonville.

Man Suffers Heart Attack, Dies on Lake

Funeral Services Set For Melvin Feistel, Forest Junction

FOREST JUNCTION — Funeral services for Melvin (Pat) Feistel, 40, Forest Junction, who died of a coronary seizure Saturday morning when his car became trapped in snow drifts on Lake Winnebago, have been set for 2 p.m. Tuesday at Zion Evangelical United Brethren Church here. Feistel died shortly after 9 a.m. Saturday when he and a companion, John Gillespie, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gillespie, Forest Junction, attempted to free Feistel's car from snow drifts. The vehicle bogged down about 5 miles off shore from Stockbridge Harbor.

Gillespie, pushing the car from the back while Feistel drove, found Feistel slumped over the steering wheel. Gillespie said he attempted mouth-to-mouth respiration while four fishermen went for help. The four had to wait a short time while they signaled a car, Gillespie said.

Feistel was taken off the lake by the Schindler ambulance, Stockbridge, but was dead on arrival at the Stockbridge doctor's office.

Feistel is survived by his wife, Monday, February 13, 1961 Appleton Post-Crescent B16

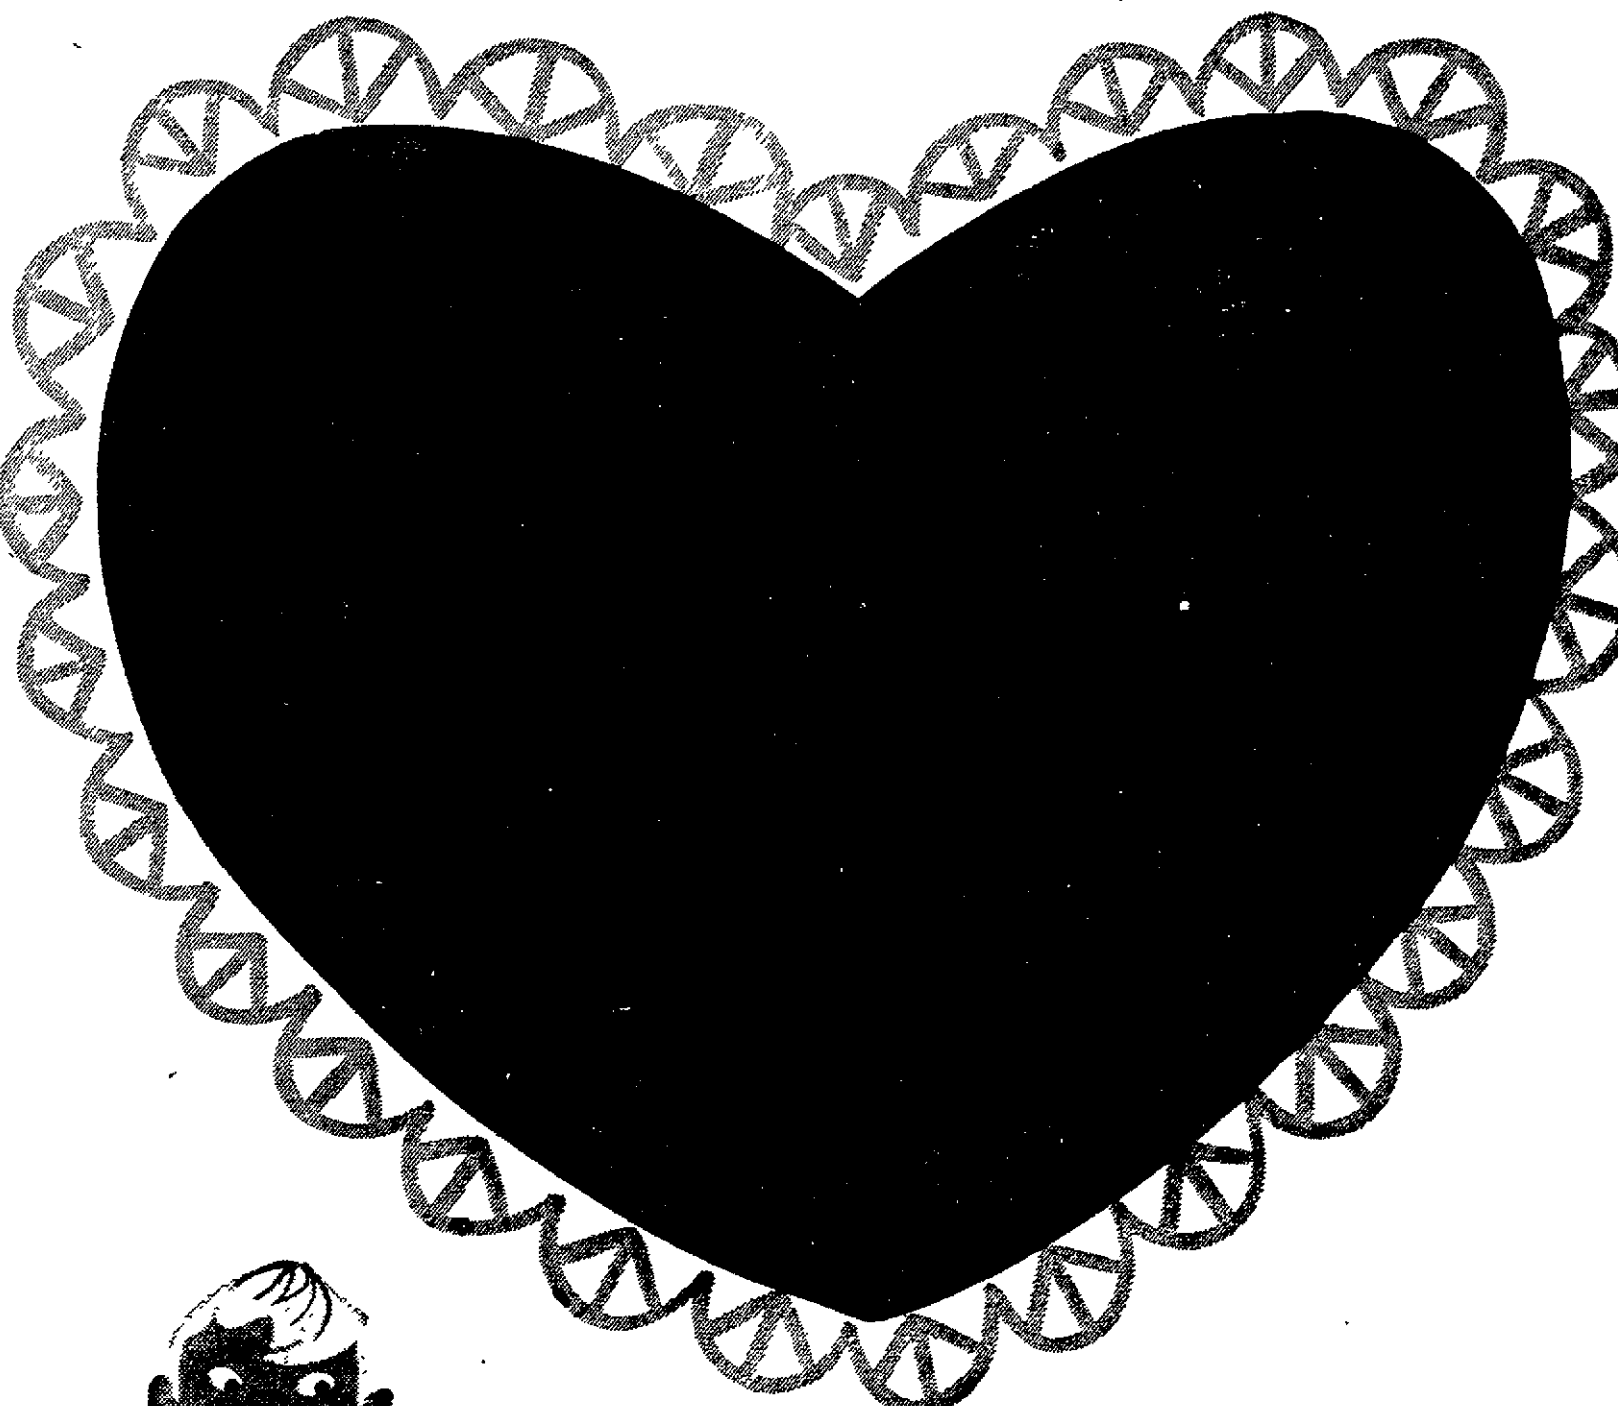

Start Observance of Civil War Centennial

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Observance of the Civil War centennial tonight features the first showing of a pageant, "The Man and the Hour" with a cast of more than 1,000 local persons.

The celebration of the formation of the confederacy here a century ago opened yesterday as church bells rang to direct attention of Alabamians to the events leading to the war which followed their secession, with other southern states, from the union.

The week-long series of pageants and programs is planned.
